Whitney and Bartlett Eliminated from All Hope of Being Elected by Disgraceful Riot at Springfield Convention.

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 9.—The political fight for Governor, according to indications in this section of State is no longer a triangular contest. It has resolved itself into a battle between Guild and Hisgen.

Whitney and Bartlett have been eliminated so far as the possibility of either of them being elected is concerned.

The Independence League candidate has received assurances from hitherto staunch members of old parties in this city, Pittsfield, Holyoke, Chicopee and other cities and towns of Western Massachusetts that they propose to vote and work for him.

Mr. Hisgen has been busy since the League convention in Boston making preparation for a thorough tour of the State. His itinerary has not yet been completed. He has been assured from scores of places that when he comes there he will be greeted by large crowds.

In the meantime the standard bearer of the League holds dozens of impromptu rallies every day and evening. These take place wherever the sunny-tempered, genial business man of West Springfield happens to be. Last evening he was stopped at numerous points in the street and knots of voters interested in the fight he is making for election listened to his heart-to-heart argument.

The conservative Springfield Republican, editorially, has this encouraging note for the hustling candidate:

"Mr. Hisgen's candidacy looks really inviting."

The Republican in telling about the situation as a result of the Democratic riot here last Saturday has this to say:

Many of the conservative Democrats were so thoroughly disgusted that they will either vote the Republican ticket or stay at home and refuse to vote at all, while many others who have a leaning toward the Democracy will refuse to ally themselves with either of the warring factions and will cast their votes for Thomas L. Hisgen and the Independence League ticket.

Hisgen Men Confident of Victory.

The friends of Mr. Hisgen believe the dual conventions will be a real boon to him in swelling his vote, and some of the Leaguers are so daring as to say that he will be the next Governor.

A citizen of Chicopee, in discussing the chances of Hisgen in his city, said:

"Without question Chicopee will go either for Hisgen or Guild in the coming election. Hisgen carried it when he ran for State Auditor on the Independence League ticket, and there is every reason to believe that he will repeat it this year. Neither Whitney nor Bartlett need come to us for votes. Our people have had enough of the methods displayed in Springfield last Saturday."

The real facts of the "pink slip" convention have just begun to leak out and there are some very angry gentlemen in this section of Massachusetts. Richard Morrissey of Westfield loses his temper every time the matter is brought to his attention, and that is about every time he meets an acquaintance.

Morrissey, C. A. Ahbe and D. F. Doherty were elected delegates from Westfield. But they had not opposition from the Bartlett contingent. They came to Springfield with their credentials, certain of participating in the convention. They stood in line for hours and never got near the door. Finally one of their friends got hold of a pink ticket, entered the convention hall and was astonished to find the three defeated Bartlett delegates from Westfield joining in the tempestuous proceedings.

"Colonel" Dan Toomey, who was credited and feted for having got the Democratic convention to come here, is now spending most of his time explaining that he had nothing to do with pink tickets or the running of the affairs. "Dan" is a Bartlett Lieutenant and is getting facts together to constitute a signed statement just as soon as the Boston leaders get through issuing theirs.

Business Men Rally to Hisgen.

The business men of this section of the State will give Hisgen a heavy vote because of his and the Legislature's stand on the merger. In discussing that feature of the fight to-day, Mr. Hisgen said:

"It has been said by many of the speakers, both Democratic and Republican, that the merger is too intricate a question to be discussed in this campaign. Of course they said that simply because they wished to dodge the real issues of the fight to-day.

"Well, what does a person do when he doesn't understand a legal case or an attack of illness. He goes to a lawyer or a doctor and gets expert advice. Now here is the Hampden County Traffic Association representing millions and millions of property in the Connecticut valley. These men are live business men, people of Republicans, and they are experts on traffic. They know what the merger would do and they are fighting it with all their power.

"Let those who think they can't understand the question take the advice of these business men. If they do that they will vote this Fall for the candidates who are opposed to the merger and defeat those in favor of it. If that is done, Governor Guild, who represents Senator Lodge and the corporations, will be beaten."

Mr. Hisgen has attracted the support of many other business men because of his advocacy of the opening of the Connecticut River for navigation to this city. The general impression is that this noble stream is already a waterway that competes with Mr. Mellen's railroad. Such is not the fact.

In order that boats that carry freight may reach Springfield from down the river they have to come through the locks at Windsor. Suddenly this Summer the tolls for passing through the locks were raised. This was done time after time. In fact, it was increased, until the income prohibitive and traffic was squeezed out of the river.

The mysterious but unfound influence that boosted these lock tolls, it is openly declared, emanated from the grasping New Haven railway. A large association of business men in this city was organized for the purpose of opening up the river for navigation, believing that it will be of great interest to the shipping interests, but so far little has been accomplished.

Mr Hisgen has advocated the matter before the Hampden County Traffic Association and the alert and aggressive members of that body propose to tackle the matter at once.

Gaining Supporters Every Day.

As an illustration of how Hisgen is picking up influential friends the following incident will serve.

"Tom," as everybody calls him was standing in the corridor of a hotel chatting with friends, old and new. A stranger came up and joined in the conversation, not knowing Hisgen. Politics were being discussed.

"I'm a Democrat," said the stranger." I was born in Lexington, Ky., Sir, and I reckoned that I would never vote for a Republican. But I reckon I got to do it this year, after attending that convention on Saturday. There's no one else to vote for."

"Why, yes, I think there is," remarked "Tom," gently.

"Who is it?" asked the stranger.

"Tom" Hisgen, the candidate for Governor on the Independence League ticket. And I'm the man."

The stranger was introduced. He and "Tom" Hisgen talked over what the Independence League stands for and the stranger, who was on his way to attend some function of the Elks in this part of the State, declared that he would not only vote for Hisgen, but take the stump for him at home and any other place in the State. The man is C. F. Graham of No. 61 Thomas park, South Boston.

BOY'S BODY FOUD STUFFED INTO OLD SUIT CASE.

5 BABIES KILLED BY SLAYER GANG

Whole Police Force at Providence at Work on Series of Mysterious and Atrocious Crimes That Has Shocked City—Bodies of Infants Found in Best Residential Section.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9.—In a house to house canvass of Prospect street, one of the best residence sections of the city, the police of Providence are to-day seeking for a clue to the murderers of the pretty eighteen-months-old baby boy whose dead body was found yesterday morning in the yard at the rear of No. 164 Prospect street.

This, the latest of a series of five child murders which the police believe have been committed by a gang of infant assassins for hire, is as yet just as much of a mystery, both so far as the identity of the child is concerned and the discovery of the perpetrators of the deed, as it was twenty-four hours ago, when the police were notified of the finding of the body.

A canvass of all of the pawnshops of the city is being made today by the police inspectors to find who had purchased the old suit case into which the pretty baby's body had been roughly jammed.

That the little one, who had evidently been murdered four or five days ago, was throttled and choked, then smothered under feather pillows or in a feather bed and wrapped in a woman's skirt and crowded into the suit case is the belief of the police and district attorney of Providence.

Believe Slayer a Woman.

Medical Examiner Perkins, who was called early in the case and who made an examination of the body, found finger marks on the neck of the child, and all over the body, were the fine feathers commonly used to stuff pillows or beds.

The medical examiner was unable to determine from the finger prints whether the child had been choked by a man or a woman but it is believed that the murderer was a woman.

This, the fifth murder of children, the dead bodies of whom have all been found within the radius of nine miles from the most wealthy and fashionable part of the capital city of this State, has startled and shocked the people here as never before.

Finds Body in Suit Case.

The body of the child was discovered yesterday morning at about 7 o'clock by Charles J. Jefferd, who was at the time going from the house, No. 164 Prospect street, to the stable in the rear, where he was to harness a horse. Mr. Jefferd saw the suitcase lying on the ground, and at once opened it, and was horrified to see the body of a baby wrapped in a woman's skirt and lying on a piece of manilla wrapping paper in the suitcase.

He at once hastened to notify Chief Houghton of the Providence police, and the latter detailed Inspectors Godfrey and O'Malley on the case.

The police have found that the suit case containing the body of the child must have been taken to the yard in the rear of the Prospect street home between the hours of midnight Monday and 7 o'clock yesterday morning. It could not have been placed there earlier, for the yard is frequented and the suit case would have been found before.

Police Hunt Every Clue.

To-day every inspector in the city is working on the case and Chief Houghton has detailed every policeman who can be spared from duty to visit the pawnshops to try to find some clue to the person who bought the case.

The inspectors are making a house-to-house canvass along Prospect street, to find if any of the families living there saw a woman or a woman with an old suit case in it at any time Monday night or yesterday morning.

Baby's Body Crushed.

Medical Examiner Perkins says that the baby was a finely formed child from eighteen months to two years of age. It has greatly decayed since death, and limbs were twisted and jammed most cruelly in forcing the body into the case.

One theory that puzzles the police and detectives is what was done with the child between the time it was stolen and the time that it was taken to the yard of the Prospect street home.

So far Chief Houghton declares that the police are working entirely in the dark. They have not yet found the semblance of a clue, but from the scope of the too inquiry the authorities hope that they will be able, to make discoveries that will enable them to drive the paid gang of baby slayers from this State.

Umpires—Sheridan and O'Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—It's clear and cold this morning and the prospects are that the Cubs and Tigers will have to hustle lively to keep warm this afternoon.

Another record crowd is looked for, and at 10 o'clock the lines at the box offices had already formed.

The game will start at 2 p.m. (3 o'clock, Boston time) instead of 2:30, to prevent another game being called on account of darkness. Yesterday's tie will be played off in Chicago Thursday.

The players, originally scheduled to cut in on the receipts of only the first four games, will now share in the fifth. Just before the series started Schaefer of the Tigers happened to think that no provision had been made for the division in case of a tie, and the players got the National Commission to agree to their share of the fifth.

Chicago's Pitchers Best.

For the games to come, it must be admitted that Chicago looks the better. They have four pitchers to be used yet before Overall need work again. They may not use all four of them, but they are there, anyway, and in shape for work. Detroit has three, only one of which is in good shape leaving Wild Bill Donovan, and it looks as though "Bill" cannot come back again before the Saturday games at least. He never has been a pitcher who could work every day.

It seems likely that Chance will send either Ruelbach or Lundgren to the slab to-day, and either one of them should be the equal or even better than any pitcher Jennings can put in. George Mullin will probably be the choice of the Tigers, although it is possible Siever will be worked because of being a left-hander. Southpaw fingers were destructive to the Cubs last season and Jennings thinks they might have the same effect this year.

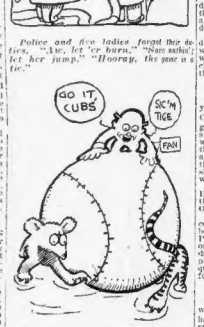
Mullin is Steady.

Mullin stands a better chance of slipping one over on the Cubs than any of the other Detroit pitchers. He is a steady, heady and ready twirler. He is one of the best batters on the Detroit team, and is considered the best batting pitcher in the business although Killian, the Tiger left-hander, finished with a better record.

Ruelbach showed wonderful speed in the three innings that he worked yesterday. He was even surprising, both to the fans and his own team-mates. He had such speed and curves that Sam Crawford was fooled and bounced out. He seemed to have perfect control and did not pass a man. For that reason Chance is liable to put him in to-day in spite of the fact that he hardly expected to see the big fellow at all, except for relief.

Lundgren is in grand trim and can be depended upon to do steady and speedy work. Pfiester showed well in practice and has a chance of doing one of the games.

Police and fire ladies forgot their ties. "Lie, let 'er burn." "Nan sathis; let her jump." "Hooray, the game is tie."



The fans are crazy. Never was there such rooting. "O, you Cubs!" "Come now, you Tigers."

One touch of baseball suture 'mid all the world of fandom hin.

WHITNEY RESIGNS AS DIRECTOR OF B. & M.

PRESIDENT TUTTLE'S REPORT AT ANNUAL MEETING SHOWS INCREASED EARNINGS.

President Tuttle, of the Boston & Maine railroad, announced the resignation of Henry M. Whitney from the board of directors of the road and its acceptance by the board at to-day's annual meeting of the stockholders in Lawrence.

The stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad, thirty-two in number, representing 100,000 of the company's shares, were unable to elect a new board of directors as Cole law passed last year to prevent the merger. By this law 147,817 shares are needed to elect a new board of directors, and for voting purposes the 109,948 shares owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford and the 11,283 shares owned by the Boston & Maine corporation could not be used. The present board will hold over till the merger question is settled.

Dividends Reach High Mark.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine Railroad was held to-day in the City Hall at Lawrence. Among the purposes of the meeting were the election of directors, and the question of issuing bonds to an amount not exceeding $6,000,000 at par for funding the floating debt, paying of loans and making additions to equipment and improvements on the road.

The report of President Lucius Tuttle for the fiscal year ending June 30 showed dividend payments of $1,973,332.16; contingent fund, $132,614.57; total earnings, $41,125,256.50; increase in earnings over 1906, $1,963,227.97.

There were 46,126,992 passengers carried during the year, which was an increase of 1,529,587. The total number of miles of track operated is 1,408.

Increase in Pay Rolls.

The increase in earnings is offset by the greater cost of operation, the pay rolls alone being $1,832,862.70 greater than the preceding year. There was spent for improvements $493,248. These include the abolition of the Newburyport tunnel, the building of the new Rockport loop and a great deal of double track, the abolition of grade crossings and the installation of block signals.

There have been added to the equipment sixty-five engines; forty-six passenger, parlor, twelve dining, six combination, six combination, tea house and four milk cars; 3,705 freight and twenty-seven caboose cars.

Contracts were also made for the additional construction of 3,144 freight cars, 30 passenger cars, 3 baggage cars, and 35 locomotives, at a total cost of $4,840,970.00. Under these contracts 1,205 freight cars, 30 passenger cars, and 8 locomotives have been received since the close of the fiscal year, and the balance are to come in during the next six months.

During the year $661,126.03 has been expended in the elimination of highway grade crossings.

Install Block Signals.

Upon the double-track sections of the company's lines, where there is the greatest density of traffic, the work of installing the most modern system of automatic block signals has been actively continued during the year; and by the close of the present season it is expected that 236 miles of track will be fully equipped with this safety device.

Expenditures were made during the fiscal year amounting to $182,274.52, and material has been accumulated or contracted for, sufficient to equip 881 miles of additional track, at an estimated cost of about $1,000,000.

It is proposed to go on continuously with this work until all of the company's main and branch lines shall be fully equipped, but the intricacy of modern block signal installation is such that a completion of it cannot be expected for three or four years to come.

ANCIENTS SAFE AT HOME AGAIN

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company reached Boston at 11:30 a. m. to-day in its special train of nine cars from Toronto, by the way of Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

"It was the best Fall trip the Ancients have ever had," said Major Jordan, commander of the Ancients.

The command, 250 strong, headed by Teel's band, which accompanied the Ancients on the trip, marched from the South Station, through the streets, down town to the company armory, in Faneuil Hall, where the trip was declared officially ended at noon.

SUES TAILOR FOR ARREST

Wesley W. Coe, of Somerville, formerly the amateur champion shot-putter of the United States, to-day sued Patrick J. Hannon, a tailor of Andover, for $10,000.

On the eve of a contest for the world's shot-putting championship in Chicago Hannon had Coe arrested for alleged failure to pay him for a suit of clothing.

Coe, in his suit filed to-day, declares that this was an unjust arrest, and that it caused him such mental anguish that he lost the championship in Chicago, and succeeded in getting only third place.

LINER WITH MANY ABOARD 3 DAYS LATE

Nothing Heard from Canadian, Due in Boston Last Monday.

BOATS BRAVE BIG STORM

The Leyland liner Canadian, with a large cargo of freight, and a number of passengers, due her Monday, has not been reported to-day. Her agents are anxious about her, fearing that she may be crippled and in danger of being driven on rocks.

The steamship Galvin Austin arrived at 10 o'clock last night from St. John and Maine ports bound on board late, after one of the most thrilling voyages in her history. For three days yesterday Captain Thompson was unable to make headway against the early-autumn gales, grateful of being cast on shore if he proceeded. Many of the panic-stricken passengers disembarked at Portland yesterday morning, being afraid to continue by water to Boston.

The fishing schooner Dorothy put into port to-day from Georges Banks after several very narrow escapes from destruction. She was nearly dismasted in the terrible and came near being swamped by the seas. Captain Temple reported that he also had a close call from destruction by colliding with the bark Freeman, after the latter had been saved from striking on Shovelful Shoals Light Sunday. All on board expected the two boats would collide and the stories were hunished by the men for the use the entire ships crew was on deck. Only an eddy in the current prevented the wreck.

2 WIVES FACE MAN AT BIGAMY TRIAL

LYNN MAN SENT TO JAIL AWAITING TRIAL IN DEFAULT OF $1,000 BAIL.

Side by side two women, one middle-aged and careworn and the other young and pretty, who had married Charles A. White, sat in the Lynn Police Court to-day while a charge of bigamy against him was being heard.

Occasionally they glanced at each other, but neither spoke, and when White was held in $1,000 by the Grand Jury, both declared that they would be witnesses against him when he is tried.

White and wife No. 2, who was Miss Sarah E. Sneehan of Grafton, was arrested in Seymour a few days ago, as a result of his marriage to Miss Sheehan in Lynn on September 18.

Confronted with the testimony of the wife whom he had married eleven years ago in Rollo Bay, P. E. I., he has admitted that he is a bigamist, but pacifies himself with the statement that he could not live happily with her.

Both Wives in Court.

Wife No. 1 reached court first to-day and a few minutes later, accompanied by her brother, the former Miss Sheehan arrived and took a seat beside the original Mrs. White.

Wife No. 2 was fashionably dressed, and there was a healthy glow in her cheeks.

The first Mrs. White had lines of sorrow in her face and her clothing was plain. Her appearance was that of a woman who had undergone many hardships.

There was no malice in the glances she shot at White. She seemed to pity him. She was the first witness called by the government.

"Eleven years ago I married White at his home, Rollo Bay, Prince Edward Island," she testified.

And then she produced her marriage certificate and handed it to the judge.

"We lived together four or five years," she continued, and then suddenly White left me. Four or five years later he returned, lived with me a short time, and disappeared again. I understand that he went to Charlottetown.

"I did not see him again until I met him in Lynn, on September 16, of this year. He told me that he would secure a house and that we would live together. He told me to look for a house and I did but I was not able to find him. I was told that he had left Lynn and I got tired of him when he was arrested at Syracuse."

Other evils other witness, except the officer, who arrested White, was wife No. 2. Her story was short.

How Second Wife Married Him.

"I was living at No. 219 Washington street, Lynn," she said, "and when White, who was a lodger there, asked me to marry him I accepted him. We were married in the parochial residence of St. Mary's Parish on September 18 by the Rev. Fr. Curtin, and then went to Grafton, my old home, from there to Worcester and finally to Seymour, where White was arrested shortly after he had secured employment.

"He told me contradictory stories. First he denied that he had ever been married before, and then he admitted that he had married that he could not live happily with his wife."

White could not furnish $1,000 bail and he was sent to jail to await trial.

"He Shan't Fool Me Again."

"It is not true that White will get a divorce from his first wife and marry me," declared wife No. 2 when she left the courtroom.

"I guess he won't do anything of that kind. He has fooled me once and he won't do it again. I don't know what is to become of my reputation. I was an honest woman, and I would not have married him had I known that he had a wife."

Wife No. 1 would only say: "I married White to befriend him. I married him to take care of him."

COLE SCORED IN BULLETIN BY OPPONENT

Instructor Allen Attacks the Speaker's Attitude Toward Corporation Contracts.

GOADED INTO A REPLY

ANDOVER, Oct. 8.—Calling John N. Cole, Speaker of the House, who manufactures printer, candidate this year for re-election to the Legislature and self-nominated candidate next year for Lieutenant-Governor on the Republican ticket, "Hessian like" in his "selling of the political influence of his newspaper for $250 to support Lewis G. Holt of Lawrence," and then failing to "deliver the goods," and charging him with transactions open to "question," in accepting contracts for printing from corporations seeking legislation, Bernard M. Allen, instructor of latin at Phillips Academy, Andover, who startled the town a few days ago by stating over his own signature that such men as John N. Cole are "dangerous" as officials, has just issued, and signed with his own signature, the second number of his "bulletin" to the voters of Andover.

Criticises Speaker's Conduct.

"It is a question," says Professor Allen, commenting upon Speaker Cole's United Shoe printing contracts, "in the minds of many as to how far it is proper for the Speaker of the House, who, by his power of committee appointment and no-veto has so commanding an influence, to take such contracts from a corporation so vitally interested in legislative action. Is there not too much temptation, on the one hand, for any man who finds it hard to resist such temptations, to put in a bid, competitive in form but not wholly so in character, and on the other hand, for a company needing friends in the Legislature as badly as this company did to accept such bids?"

Speaker Cole's Reply.

Speaker Cole, in his newspaper, the Andover Townsman, made reply in a leading editorial to Professor Allen's first "Bulletin" to the voters of Andover and assured his friends that "the proper tribunal" will be sought if "any specific charges" are made against him by "any responsible person."

Adding a new one to his charges and asking Speaker Cole to give, as he promised last February, complete and accurate information concerning goods shipped from the Andover Press and all other data of interest to the public," and making another charge against Speaker Cole of the "barter and sale" of his newspaper influence, Professor Allen retorts that the "proper tribunal" in the face of the publicly made charges, is Speaker Cole himself.

B. & A. TRAIN WRECKED; THREE MEN INJURED

GENERAL BARTLETT AMONG THOSE DELAYED BY THE TRAFFIC BLOCKADE.

MIDDLEFIELD, Oct. 9.—Both Boston & Albany railroad tracks were blockaded for hours last night and until early to-day by a freight wreck here which injured three trainmen.

Passenger and freight trains were held up on both sides of the track, and General Charles W. Bartlett, Democratic candidate for Governor, was among those delayed. General Bartlett was returning from Pittsfield, where he had been engaged as counsel in the Berlin divorce case since Saturday's session.

Eight cars of a loaded freight train, Boston bound, were thrown from the track, presumably due to a broken wheel. The injured trainmen are A. J. Dupont, Charles Daniels and Walter P. Conlin, all of West Springfield.

RYAN ELECTED CAPTAIN.

The freshman class of the College of Liberal Arts, Boston University, has elected football officers and the squad will be called upon about the middle of the week. James Ryan, a local student, was chosen captain, and Harold Perrin of Wellesley Hills manager.

LONDON BISHOP, LEAVING HUB, LAUDS HARVARD

"My visit to Boston and Cambridge has been afull of pleasant little incidents, and I have enjoyed every minute of my stay here," said Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington-Ingram, bishop of London, just before boarding the 10 o'clock train for New York to-day.

"I was especially impressed with the unity of Harvard University. As I passed around seeing the various parts of the university, I looked for the various colleges, but to England, you know, our colleges are made up of smaller colleges."

When asked if he thought the English system of arranging a university was better than the Boston system, he said it was a question of location to a large extent. "I think that a university ought to adapt itself to the existing conditions and needs, and this I think Harvard is doing just as well English colleges are doing the same thing. The question is that of keeping the college adjusted to its peculiar needs."

KILEY ON RACK OVER DEDHAM CONVENTION

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION BEFORE BALLOT COMMISSION.

Seeking evidence on which they can decide whether James M. Lynch of Avon or G. Granville Darling of Dedham is entitled to the Democratic senatorial nomination in the Second Norfolk District, which held its convention at Dedham, the Ballot Law Commissioners are giving a hearing in room 249 State House to-day.

Daniel J. Kiley, chairman of the executive committee of the State Democratic Committee admitted under cross examination of Malachi L. Jennigs that although he had taken a prominent part in the Dedham convention he was not sure there was a formal vote of the State Committee and that credentials had been sent out to very few of the Second Norfolk District and that all over he State regardless of the fact that as of hers did not have the certificate.

This method of sending out credentials was followed, Mr. Kiley said, for city councillor, county and district attorney conventions.

"I was governed in what I did," Mr. Kiley said, "by the call of the State Committee and the custom as I ascertained it to have been."

Mr. Jennings tried to show that there was collusion between Kiley and Mr. Oldham, who was chosen as a member of the State committee, and that the collusion existed because Mr. Kiley desired to have the support of Mr. Oldham for General Bartlett at the Democratic convention in Springfield.

"Before this thing is through, I will show that there was collusion," declared Mr. Jennings.

Delegates From Caucuses.

When Mr. Kiley was questioned about the methods of handing out credentials he read from memory this section of State committee's call, "Provided, however, that each town shall be entitled to at least one delegate."

"Does that mean regardless of whether caucuses were held?" asked Mr. Jennings.

"I think it is susceptible of any interpretation the State Committee may put upon it," answered Mr. Kiley. "I think it is largely a question of judgment.

When suggestions were made that there was collusion between Mr. Kiley and Mr. Oldham, Mr. Kiley said that the first time he had heard of Mr. Oldham was when he talked with George Fred Williams over the telephone.

Mr. Williams, he said, told him that if his (Williams) name were mentioned for membership on the State committee he would decline.

What George Fred Said.

"If my name is proposed," Kiley said Mr. Williams told him, "it is unauthorized. If I were present I would vote for Mr. Oldham."

"I met Mr. Oldham first," said Mr. Kiley, "just before the Dedham convention and spoke of Springfield.

"Didn't you know that if Mr. Oldham went to the Springfield convention he would be friendly to your friend?" asked Mr. Jennings.

"I don't know anything about it, except that Mr. Williams told me that if he were a delegate he would vote for Mr. Oldham."

"What was your belief?"

"I didn't have that in mind, so I have no belief."

"Did your executive committee pass any vote to send you to Dedham?"

"No, sir; no formal vote."

Mr. Kiley related the proceedings of the Dedham convention and declared that the only name proposed to the convention for the Senatorial convention was that of Mr. Darling.

Conversation on Train.

On the way to the train after the convention Mr. Kiley said Lynch said to him: "It is too bad I couldn't have got that nomination."

"Darling," said Mr. Kiley, "declined the nomination when it was made, but he was not recognized by the chair, and the declination was not accepted."

"I said to Lynch: 'Well, Mr. Darling did not seem to want the nomination. Why didn't you speak up?'

"Lynch said that he didn't care to speak for himself and then I said 'Perhaps the thing can be arranged and we will see if your name cannot be substituted for that of Darling.'"

'Outraged Law Ought to Send Convention Freebooters to Jail'

Fall River Globe Demands Punishment of Springfield "Political Pirates."

THE press of New England, and of the East generally, continues to denounce editorially the astounding proceedings attending the Democratic State Convention at Springfield on Saturday. Following are some of the more pointed utterances:

"Independence League Must Be Reckoned With."
(CONCORD, N. H., DAILY PATRIOT, DEM.)

The Independence League, for which in a large measure, Hearst must stand sponsor, is going to be a force to reckon with in this country, and within the near future will take an active hand, even in presidential affairs.

"Hisgen's Candidacy Inviting."
(SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN:)

Here in Massachusetts, Mr. Hisgen's candidacy for Governor looks really inviting, after the convention anarchy of the Democrats.

Democracy Degraded at Springfield.
(FALL RIVER GLOBE.)

Democracy and decency were alike outraged and disgraced at Springfield, Saturday, when an alleged State convention of the Democrats of Massachusetts was by violence and crime transformed into a scene of riot and rowdyism, through the evil machinations of a disreputable gang of political thugs and mercenary highbinders, who, finding themselves powerless to rule by fair play and honorable conduct, chose to ruin, through trickery and ruffianism.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Democrats of Massachusetts, had by an overwhelming vote, expressed their preferences for the nomination of Henry M. Whitney for Governor, the Bartlett boomers and bummers, who braved full sentence of the contempt of honest men at Springfield Saturday, set out deliberately and with criminal intent to nullify and disregard the wishes of the great majority of the Democratic party by violence and chicanery. That they were successful as the record of the day's work shows them to have been, is as regrettable to all decent citizens, who believe in the fundamentals of a republican form of government, as it is reprehensible in the marplots and crooks of Boston ward politics, who were mainly instrumental in bringing about the discreditable day's work. Were it possible for even a moment to consider that the cheaply purchased pirates of politics as practised in the slums of Boston, who dominated and degraded for a day at Springfield, represented the Democratic party of Massachusetts, then it would be time for every decent Democart to hide his face through shame and abandon hope or respect in Democracy for all time.

It is equally true also that if such a reign of rowdyism and the dictates of such freebooters and party panhandlers as prevailed in Springfield can be permitted to stand, legally, the laws of Massachusetts for preservation of the rights of suffrage and the protection of voters are woefully and lamentably deficient. One of the most surprising features of the great wrong which was perpetrated Saturday at Springfield was the high-handed way in which Kiley, O'Connell, Feeney, Williams, Watson, Linehan et al. carried out their program of brute force and gutter statesmanship and the utter absence up to the present moment of any apology or explanation of the serious allegations that have been made against them. * * *

The injury done by these lawbreakers was not confined by party lines, being rather an outrage on the whole Commonwealth, alike for the peaceful nature of the work done, and the degenerate example set for the future, in case the criminals go free of punishment, and it is on this account that, no matter what the political outcome of the affair may be, the moral aspect is the one that should not be lost sight of, in order that a few deserving jail birds should come into their own, through the machinery of outraged law.

Where Will Bryan Stand?
(Boston Traveler, Dem.)

The man who after Bartlett will lose by the convention at Springfield on Saturday is William J. Bryan, whose fight with Roger Sullivan in Illinois was on the charge that he had been nominated by a convention which Mr. Bryan alleged was a crime against Democracy. The Hopkins-Sullivan faction organized the Illinois convention on about the same basis that Williams organized his convention at Springfield on Saturday, although in many ways not so brutally and in complete violation of law. "Foghorn" Quinn of Peoria was made temporary chairman, and Carter Harrison and enough opposition delegates were run out of the hall to give him control. It was against the action of this convention that Bryan protested at St. Louis, and upon which he has based his opposition to Sullivan ever since. Every argument Bryan used at St. Louis against Hopkins and Roger Sullivan can be repeated against George Fred Williams and his control of the convention on Saturday at Springfield. Will Mr. Bryan denounce George Fred Williams for doing exactly what Roger Sullivan did?

"Sickening Dishonesty."
(Boston Transcript.)

It is fair to predict that the Bartlett ticket just nominated with such a sickening exhibition of dishonesty, and amid such scenes of indescribable disorder, will be laughed out of court long before the balloting in November, and that individuals everywhere will be ashamed to be known as voting the ticket as they would be to be caught with stolen goods on their premises. It will be a long time before the men identified with the theft of this convention can expect to be looked upon with respect by any honest man. "I stake my reputation," begins the virtuous Congressman O'Connell in describing the work of the convention. Stake what? He is soon going to Washington. Why does he not there, on the organization of the House of Representatives, show his party associates how they can control the House? Let the Alabama delegation, which is sworn in first in alphabetical order and so in a manner, exclude all Republican delegations which present themselves at the bar of the House, following the technical precedent in the Brigham Roberts case. Nearly everything can be stolen, so long as there are men who are willing to do it.

"Shows Its Incapacity."
(Boston Record.)

The demoralized democracy succeeded in giving the State the most convincing reason at the double-headed convention at Springfield for denying it any share in administration of State affairs. No party in the entire history of State politics ever showed such incapacity to manage even its own affairs. There is no doubt whatever that there was fraud and crookedness in the capture of the convention. The newspaper correspondents who were present, the only impartial judges, will undoubtedly so testify if they are asked. It does not seem possible that their work can receive the official indorsement. On the other hand in the haste of the moment and wrath at the tactics of the Bartlett men on the stage, it is more than doubtful if the nomination of Whitney conformed to the requirements of a legal convention.

"Hold Some One Accountable."
(Woonsocket Evening Reporter.)

The proceedings at what was supposed to be a Democratic State convention in Springfield, Saturday, cannot be designated other than disgraceful, and some body should be held accountable for the manner in which the affair was conducted. The leaders of the opposing factions cannot both be in the right, and the only effectual manner to prevent a repetition of the occurrence is for the State authorities in charge of caucuses and elections to make an investigation which will place the blame where it belongs. No matter which party commits such outrages they will work to its detriment, and will cause a feeling on the part of the electorate which can but be opposition.

"Party Fallen, So Low."
(Worcester Gazette.)

"Without reference to one's own political beliefs, it is regrettable to see a great party fallen so low. The blow the Democratic party received as the result of the convention will well-nigh kill it in this State. Certainly it cannot recover from it for years. The decent Democrats through out the State will not want to longer train with, or be under the orders of the Boston crowd and the young man about to be made a voter will believe he will find things to him more congenial politically in some other party. If the Democratic party did not commit suicide Saturday it most surely made a brave attempt at it.

Capacity for Blundering.
(Manchester, N. H., Union.)

The Democrats of Massachusetts have furnished the country with another terrible demonstration of the capacity for blundering and inopportune dissension which has characterized their party for so many years. In confusion and almost with riot, the delegates divided hopelessly, with the result that two candidates and two platforms are placed before a surprised and presumably disgusted public, with the certainty of an overwhelming defeat for both at the polls.

USE GAS THE MODERN FUEL

THREE MONTHS ON 80c. GAS

Comments Pleasing

On July 1st, we REDUCED THE PRICE of gas to 80c. We are very much PLEASED with the COMMENTS OCCASIONED by this reduction. It is PARTICULARLY GRATIFYING that Boston should be held up all over the country as the MODEL CITY with respect to its GAS INDUSTRY.

Boston Gas the Model

The BOSTON PUBLIC may take EQUAL PRIDE with us in comments like the following:

Six Extracts from Comments of the Press

1. "BOSTON must now be the ENVY of many large cities in the country."
2. "A NOTABLE INSTANCE of the value of GOOD MANAGEMENT in a public utility comes from BOSTON."
3. "Once more MASSACHUSETTS is giving the rest of the country an EXAMPLE in good legislation."
4. "The BOSTON CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY is SETTING THE PACE for other corporations of its kind."
5. "To make a REDUCTION OF 20% during so short a period, in which PRICES for labor and materials HAVE RISEN SO LARGELY, is certainly a REMARKABLE ACHIEVEMENT."
6. "In this period of ADVANCING PRICES on every side, it is EXCEEDINGLY GRATIFYING to have ONE commodity of every-day use move in the OTHER DIRECTION."

Increased Patronage

Our OWN CUSTOMERS have shown THEIR APPRECIATION of the SAVING represented by our $800,000, as compared with the price a little over two years ago, by INCREASED PATRONAGE. Since July 1st, our OUTPUT HAS INCREASED 16 2/10% as compared with 7 1/10% for the same period in the year preceding.

Advantages Proved

This INCREASE IN BUSINESS is a most STRIKING PROOF of the ADVANTAGES of USING GAS, especially at the REDUCED PRICE.

By the CONTINUED CONSIDERATION of the interests of our customers, we shall endeavor not only to RETAIN, but to DESERVE the GOOD WILL of the public.

Our FORTY REPRESENTATIVES await your commands.

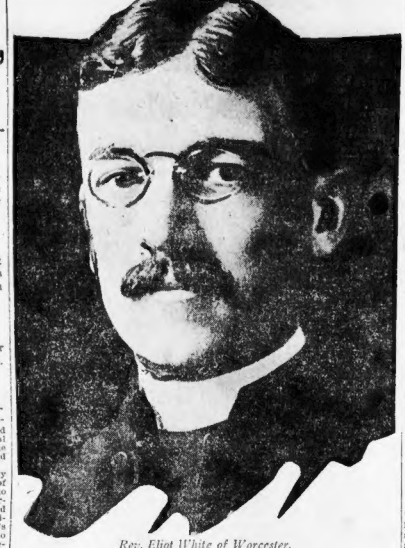
MINISTER FIGHTS TO FREE CHILD SLAVES FROM TRUST



Rev. Eliot White of Worcester.

Rev. Eliot White Leader in Big Meeting To-night to Protest Practices of Wire Company.

WORCESTER, Oct. 9.—In spite of the fact that a monster mass meeting is called for to-night to condemn the alleged practices of the American Steel and Wire Company in buying children to work in the mills at $1 a head, prominent citizens declare that the trust is still engaged in the child slave traffic.

Even the Worcester newspapers are aiding the reputed secret practice of the Steel Wire Trust officials, according to the charge of the Rev. Eliot White, of this city. Mr. White has resigned as rector of St. John's Episcopal Church after ten years, to devote his life to uplifting downtrodden humanity.

Advertisement Is Censored.

He declares that an advertisement for which he paid was censored by the advertising manager of a local paper, all matter which would reflect on the conduct of the local wire mills being cut out before the paper would print the ad. The matter which he submitted read:

"EMPLOYES OF THE AMERICAN STEEL AND WIRE COMPANY AND OTHERS: VOTERS AND WAGE EARNERS OF WORCESTER:

"The City Government has hired Washburn Hall, Wednesday, October 9, at 7:45 p. m., for the voters of Worcester to discuss the methods of the Steel and Wire Company. It's up to you."

The BOSTON AMERICAN reporter today Mr. White said that the heading was made to read, "Voters and wage-earners of Worcester." Instead of "to discuss the methods, etc., the ad. read, "to discuss the question of the delivery of children into the custody of the Steel Trust."

Trust Resumes Practice.

The method by which, it is said, the Trust is able to buy children at a dollar per head, is to compel parents of these working in the mills to sign a "minors' release," by which the parents waive every right they have to their children's services, as well as all liability claims in case the latter are killed in the factory. After the BOSTON AMERICAN story 28 ex-posed this practice, the Trust laid low for a time, but the Rev. Mr. White and others assert that the contracts are again being forced on parents in the most secret manner.

Mr. White has decided to leave the ministry to spend the rest of his life in bettering the conditions of the laboring classes. His resignation, tendered in June, takes effect next week Monday, ten years to a day after he began his pastorate.

This Winter he will deliver on Sunday afternoons in Worcester a course of lectures on such themes as "How the City Government Looks to the Average Citizen," "Why Boys and Girls Go Wrong," "The Church of the Future," "The Labor Movement in Worcester" and "Taxes."

HOPE TO FREE ROBERTS BY WOMAN'S EVIDENCE

DEFENCE EXPECTS MRS. DICKINSON TO CLEAR MAN OF HUSBAND'S DEATH.

HOULTON, Me., Oct. 9.—Attorney R. W. Shaw, who is defending Jack Roberts, the Maine guide and woodsman, who is accused of slaying Peter Dickinson, will play his trump card to-day and is confident that the man who has been held a prisoner for a year, almost to a day, will be a free man before the sun sets to-night.

Mr. Shaw refuses, however, to say what surprise he has in store, and Mrs. Dickinson still remains the woman of mystery in the case. She will not tell why she made her secret visit to the hearing, while Attorney Shaw assumes a Sphinxlike attitude when the woman's name is mentioned.

Is Mrs. Dickinson his trump card, and is her testimony that Mr. Shaw feels so sure will result in the freedom of Roberts? This question will be answered this afternoon when the State finishes its case.

Will Testify for Roberts.

Mrs. Dickinson came out of her retirement and quietly slipped into the gallery of the courthouse yesterday, where, hardly noticed in the throng, she listened to the evidence being given by the witness against Roberts.

"Have you been asked to come as a witness?" she was queried. "I cannot say why I am here just yet," she said. "I have been asked not to say anything now. At the proper time I shall tell my story, then I will be ready to make have my say and tell the truth about me. I have nothing to conceal."

Mrs. Dickinson was dressed in deep black. Until yesterday few people in the town were aware that she had arrived. If Mrs. Dickinson is called as a witness it will be for the side of Roberts, the man who is accused of the murder of her husband.

All day long Roberts sat in his chair in the dock and gazed impassively at the witnesses as they were called by the State's attorneys and one after another gave their evidence against him.

State Tries to Fix Crime.

After the technical evidence was all in, when the doctors who had performed the autopsy had given their testimony, when those who were in the house at the time that Mr. Dickinson was shot, had testified, the prosecution commenced the work of trying to prove their charge that John Roberts was in Island Falls on Wednesday and that his movements, as they thought to trace him by witnesses, would take him in the direction of the Dickinson home. Some ten witnesses were brought forward to support their point.

There were three witnesses put on trial to tell of threats that they testified had been made in their presence by John Roberts against Ed Dickinson.

Nine persons were asked to tell of incidents when they had seen Roberts going toward the Dickinson house when it was known that Mr. Dickinson was away, or seeing Mrs. Dickinson on the road or near the woods in the evening, and later seeing the defendant not far away.

HELEN GOULD AT PITTSFIELD

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 9.—Miss Helen Gould is a guest at the Maplewood Hotel, having arrived there last evening in her automobile together with Mrs. John Ingraham and Miss M. Clarke after a drive from Irvington-on-the-Hudson.

Miss Gould says she will stay for several days and is planning a number of trips through the Berkshires.

ROOSEVELT RESUMES HUNT

STAMBOUL, La., Oct. 9.—President Roosevelt was ready to take the trail early to-day. The rain that kept him from hunting yesterday had ceased. The President is enjoying his outing immensely. Venison and trout form the principal features of the menu in the camp and the keen air has given the chief executive an excellent appetite. The President was stirred at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, but the rain kept falling until noon and the chase was abandoned.

RHEUMATISM AND NERVOUS DISEASES

As Well as Catarrh, Consumption, Eczema, Stomach, Kidney, Blood Diseases, Etc., Are Quickly Cured by the Scientific Methods of the Boston Clinic.

The greatest marvel connected with the BOSTON CLINIC is the confidence with which its patients are cured of serious diseases; diseases that others have failed to cure, even after having had treatment for years. These splendid cures are the result of special study, long and laborious experiments, and the use of machinery and appliances, for the cure of other diseases. Nearly all of these machines are the invention of special physicians in charge of the Boston Clinic, and are not to be found elsewhere. Many of these machines are the result of special study, long and laborious experiments, and the use of special apparatus with which our offices are equipped.

With the magnificent INHALATORIUM CABINET we cure Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Blood Diseases and Rheumatism.

With our improved X-Ray machine we cure Rheumatism, Joint Diseases, the worst stages of Bright's Disease, old ulcers and sores and Cancer.

With our Galvano-Faradic machine we cure Tumors, Diseases of the Spinal Cord, of the Nerves and of the Muscles.

Dr. Schlenker cures Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Bronchial Troubles, Throat Diseases, Discharging Ears and all Diseases of the Nose by medicated inhalations, and other approved methods, for the cure of other diseases.

HENRY SIEGEL CO.

WASHINGTON AND ESSEX SREETS CLOSING HOUR 5:30 P M MAIL ORDERS FILLED FOR ANY AMOUNT

50c ON THE DOLLAR
For the Entire $125,000 Stock

YOU MUST READ THIS NOTICE—HUNDREDS OF CASES OF HIGH-CLASS MERCHANDISE FROM THE COLOSSAL PURCHASE OF THE NEW HENDERSON DRY GOODS STORE, OF WORCESTER, JUST OPENED UP FOR TO-DAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AND WILL REPEAT THE SENSATIONS OF MONDAY EVERY DAY THIS WEEK

The store was taxed to its utmost capacity every minute of the day on Monday. All records of the past were shattred. We believe we set a new high record for one day's business in Boston, not excepting the oldest store nor any other store, but wait! The sale has only just begun. Fresh, new lots of unparalleled, unmatchable, wonderful bargains are added every hour. Never before has Boston or New England been so enthused. The public has paid us a tribute that will stand forever pre-eminent as a tribute for doing something never in the past achieved. We thank you from our hert. We shall try to do still greater things in the future. We ask you to keep in touch with this store—to watch our advertisements and we promise that you will be well repaid. You have shown us by your enthusiasm over this sale that we have your confidence. We want to keep your confidence and to the end shall ever try to give you better values than ever—better than any other store, and we shall continue to give you that same high class merchandise that has made the four mammoth Siegel stores the greatest organization in America.

THE SALE HAS JUST BEGUN—FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF THE COUNTIY THAT A NEW HIGH CLASS STOCK OF MERCHANDISE WAS OFFERED AT 50c ON THE DOLLAR. YOUR OPPORTUNITY IS NOW.

IMPORTANT

We bought the Henderson stock because it consisted of new, clean, high class merchandise—Edward Henderson having been in business only 14 months. We do not make a practice of buying out stocks, but probably no other store ever had an opportunity like this, and we Knew our customers would appreciate our enterprise. Besides, the name HENDERSON stands for all that is reliable, desirable, up-to-date and first class in merchandise. Edward Henderson and his father, Alexander Henderson, are old merchants and residents of Boston, and they are known throughout Boston and the entire New England States, the latter through his long years of partnership with the old firm of Houston & Henderson

MACHINE ALARMED AT MORAN'S SHOWING

DENNISON RAMMED DOWN THE DELEGATES' THROATS BY DIFFERENT FACTIONS.

True to its instincts the Democratic machine last night nominated Joseph A. Dennison, the candidate of the Naw-Dee-Doyle-Curley Democracy, over John B. Moran for District Attorney. The victory of the machine was won by a margin of seventeen votes, Dennison receiving 108 to Moran's seventy-two, one being necessary to nominate.

The chairman of the meeting was former Congressman "Joe" O'Neil, who has been resurrected politically by Barry Nawn, whose Fenway senate contract is still hanging fire in the District Attorney's office. Joseph C. Pelletier, another Nawn delegate, nominated Dennison, while Andrew J. Peters, a third Nawn delegate, was chairman of the Committee on Credentials.

Superintendent "Jim" Boyce was in personal charge on the floor. "Dan" Coakley, brother-in-law of Dennison, directed operations from Young's Hotel, while Judge Sherman's son, Roland H. Sherman of Winchester, and Coakley, Curley's counsel, Sherman, was an active lieutenant on the floor.

The notorious Curleys, of Ward 17, were on the floor directing movements. "Tom" Curley, who was recently in the Massachusetts Legislature, ripped, raved and cursed when not one time it looked as if the convention was getting away from the machine.

Ford Scores Curley.

The Curleys and their followers were almost crazed with frenzy when P. J. W. Ford of South Boston, in seconding the nomination of Moran, pointed to them and Doyle, exclaiming:

"Let the man stand before me and tell me his chief reason for wiping out John B. Moran from his present office. You dare not stand before me and tell me it is for any other reason than that you might be a grafter."

Representative Daniel J. McDonald of Ward 5, indicted the other day in connection with the New England Telephone case, was the cheerleader for the man he wants to succeed Moran. At every opportunity he was standing in a chair waving and shouting for Joseph A. Dennison.

Convention Turbulent.

Representative William F. Murray of Ward 5, in seconding the nomination of Dennison, lauded him as the defender of Representative S. John Lamoreaux, indicted on the charge of legislative graft.

The convention was a turbulent one from start to finish, and the "gang" element was uppermost all the time. When it was announced, showing fast their candidate had won.

Machine Alarmed.

The weakness of their grip on the various wards of the city disclosed by the narrow margin by which they were able to ram down the throats of the delegates the nomination of Moran's slimiest assistant, Joseph A. Dennison, as District Attorney of Suffolk at last night's convention, the leaders of the city machine are trembling in fear to-day over the outcome of to-night's county convention which will nominate a candidate for sheriff and registrar of probate.

James Donovan, whose ward presented a solid front last night for Dennison, is the candidate of the machine for sheriff.

It is over the nomination for registrar of probate, however, that the fight promises to be bitterest. The candidates are Arthur W. Doiron, former secretary to the Mayor; Daniel J. McLean of Ward 15, John F. Cronin of Ward 23 and Richard Sullivan of Ward 19.

Harry Nawn, "Dan" Coakley, "Jim" Doyle and the other leaders of the "gang" have become fair out for Dolan. Particularly dangerous are they to break congestion on Monday, as it was in the courage to stand up and deliver his ward to Moran last night, that Dolan, Cronin, Sullivan, despite all threats, entreaties and intimidation, threw the votes of Ward 23 and 25 to the courageous prosecuting officer of Suffolk County.

WHITNEY TO SPEAK IN SALEM TO-NIGHT WITH SCHOFIELD

Henry M. Whitney, "candidate for Governor," as his cards read, is to speak at meetings to be held in the Ames Memorial Hall in the Y. M. C. A. building, Salem, to-night, and in the Town Hall at Cohasset to-morrow night. There will be several speakers at to-night's meeting besides Mr. Whitney, including Hon. George A. Schofield, "candidate for Lieutenant-Governor," James F. Dunn of Salem is to preside.

The call for to-morrow night's meeting is sent out by the Whitney Tariff Revision Committee.

TWO MEN DEAD IN $35,000 BARN FIRE

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The Park Hotel livery barn at Trumansburg was destroyed by fire to-day with its contents, nine and nine horses perished in the flames. The Uhl wagon factory, Savage livery barn and a small shop were also consumed. Loss $35,000. The dead men were Lamont Barnes, twenty-eight, single; Thomas Sarsfield, forty-five.

BURNED TO DEATH IN BED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Michael McCarthy, an automobile washer, burned to death in bed early to-day. McCarthy's charred body was found on the iron framework of the bed.

Do Your Meals Fit?

Do You Feel Snug and Comfortable Around Your Waist Line After a Hearty Meal?

Did your last meal taste deliciously good to you, and did you eat all you wanted? Could you have patted your rotundity in glee and felt proud of your appetite and of your good strong stomach? Do you feel rosy now because your last meal gave you no inconvenience whatever? If not, you have dyspepsia in some form, and probably never realized it.

If you have the least trouble in your stomach after eating, no matter how little or how much you eat, there is trouble brewing and you must correct it at once.

Most all stomach troubles come from poor, weak, scanty gastric juice, that precious liquid which helps to turn your food into rich, red blood.

If you have nausea, your gastric juice is weak. If you have sour risings or belchings, your food is fermenting; your gastric juice is weak. If you have loss of appetite, your gastric juice is weak. If you have a bloaty feeling of aversion to food, your gastric juice is weak.

You need something in your stomach to supply the gastric juice which is scanty, and to give power to the weak gastric juice. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing.

Now think—one grain of one of the ingredients of these wonderful little tablets digests 2,000 grains of food. They are several times more powerful than the gastric juice in a good, strong powerful stomach. They actually digest your food for you. Besides, they increase the flow of gastric juice, just what you need to get all the good possible out of everything you eat. You will never have that "lump of lead" in your stomach nor any other stomach trouble after taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Then everything you eat will be digested, it will give you strength, vim, energy and a rosy disposition. You'll feel good all around your waist line after every meal and it will make you feel good all over.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make you feel happy after eating a good, hearty meal. Take one or two after eating. You'll feel fine—then your meals will fit, no matter what or when you eat.

We want to send you a sample package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, free of charge, so you can test them yourself and be convinced. After you have tried the sample, you will be so satisfied that you will go to the nearest drug store and get a 50c box.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COUNCILLOR CONVENTION HELD TO-NIGHT

The first Independence councillor convention in the Second District will be held in Temperance Hall, Norwood, to-night. There is much enthusiasm over this convention as the League plans to make a campaign for its nominee which it is believed will result in his election.

This district has always been in the grasp of the Republican machine which has regularly nominated a candidate wedded to corporation interests.

Even the Democrats have taken it for granted that the Republican candidate would be elected and have not put anyone in the field against him.

Kidder Leads in Race.

The League delegates who are to attend this convention are nearly all pledged to Charles G. Kidder of Taunton, president of the Typographical Union and the Wage Earners' Club, and a man who will represent the people and not the corporations.

The Second Councillor District comprises the First Bristol, the First and Second Norfolk and the Eighth and Ninth Suffolk senatorial districts.

In the Bristol districts are Attleboro, Berkeley, Dighton, Easton, Mansfield, North Attleboro, Norton, Raynham, Rehoboth, Seekonk and the city of Taunton.

From the Norfolk district delegates will attend the convention from Avon, Bellingham, Braintree, Brookline, Canton, Dedham, Dover, Foxboro, Franklin, Holbrook, Hyde Park, Medfield, Medway, Millis, Milton, Needham, Nonk, Norwood, Plainville, Quincy, Randolph, Sharon, Stoughton, Walpole, Wellesley, Weston, Weymouth and Wrentham.

In the Suffolk District.

From the Suffolk district there will be delegates from Wards 20, 21, 23 and 24 of Boston.

The Independence League fourth district councillor convention will be held in rooms 345 and 348 Old South Building, Boston, on Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

The Independence League County Convention will meet in the same rooms in the Old South Building at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night to nominate candidates for sheriff and registrar of probate and to elect a county committee.

TWO PRICES FOR MILK BY TRUST FIRM?

Charges that D. Whiting & Sons, one of the largest drug houses identified with the milk trust, are selling milk for eight cents a quart to customers who will not pay nine cents a quart to-day by James Whiting, head of the concern.

"I will not deny or affirm the report that we sell milk for eight cents a quart to customers who refuse to pay nine," said Mr. Whiting to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter to-day. "I have no statement to make on that subject."

A Malden man declares that when a notice was left at his door in which he was told that after October 1 he would have to pay nine cents a quart for milk, he left this note for D. Whiting & Sons' driver: "I do not want any milk at nine cents a quart."

But the usual supply was left every morning, this note also being left:

"After taking the matter over with Mr. Whiting he said you could have it left at the old price, eight cents a quart."

"I have told a number of my friends about it, the Malden man said to-day, "and I have no doubt they will also protest against paying the nine-cent rate for their milk."

Other members of the Milk Trust deny that they have cut under the new rates.

C. H. Hood of H. P. Hood & Sons said: "The price of milk is nine cents a quart, positively nothing less. That is all I have to say on the subject."

J. K. Whiting of the firm of C. Brigham & Co. of Cambridge said:

"The price of our milk is nine cents a quart. That price will remain. If a customer refuses to take it at that price we will refuse to deliver it to them."

The trust firms admit that hundreds of their customers have cut down their orders for milk.

FOOD FAIR TEA SPOONS DO A DISAPPEARING ACT

ONE-RING CIRCUS AND BIG DOLLS' HOUSE GREAT ATTRACTIONS FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Today is the third great day of the Boston Food Fair and the Ceylon tea exhibit and its managers are just tawny gross of tea spoons to the bad, for about ninety-eight of every hundred women who visited this display and stopped for a cup of tea carried away a spoon as a memento of the occasion. This the management of the exhibition had not counted upon. Whether all the women who took the spoons are inveterate collectors or merely kleptomaniacs is still puzzling them. One of the native Hindoos who is in attendance, said to one of the visitors:

"The women, what do they do? They take our spoons and yet your country send missionaries to us to convert us. As yours is a strange country, a strange country."

Hundreds of children visited the old-fashioned one-ring circus, which is located in the basement, and also the children's theatre, which is in the top of the building.

Doll House Delights Children.

The huge dolls' house comprising eight rooms is one of the attractions of the Fair and is of interest to the older ones as well as to the children. This house is about three feet high and is lighted throughout with electric lights and the furnishing of the rooms is complete in every detail. There is a wonderful bath room with an enameled bath tub and the bed rooms are the envy of every little girl who has ever lived in dollhouse.

A real Teddy bear is of at least the youngsters believe it is a real one, is to be seen sitting on the porch in one of the corners of the building, but that they do not attempt to pet him is evident by the large following he always attracts.

The Fair will be open all day to-day to every good little boy and girl he gives a penny to help feed the poor children and as a unique way of advertising a breakfast food, which is on sale, and of great value in the feast to the children's minds.

The musical programme for the week is an excellent one and hundreds of visitors enjoyed both classical and popular music yesterday.

The Passion Play is one of the greatest moving picture exhibits ever shown in this city. The film is over three miles in length and is beautifully colored. This is located in Paul Revere hall. Performances are given at 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 5:00, 8:00, and 9:00 p. m.

To-day's Programme.

The programme for to-day is as follows:

10:45 a. m.—Cooking demonstration in the woman's department in the balcony.

Miss Maria Danelle will be the teacher.

3 p. m.—Mrs. William Bain gives an address on "Travels in other lands."

3:30 p. m.—Musical and literary recital. Miss Edith Pettengill, contralto; Miss Winifred Lenk, reader; Miss Alice Fraser Lenk, pianist.

5 to 8 p. m.—A reception given by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Association.

8 p. m.—Band concert in the main hall by the United States Marine band.

From the time the doors were opened yesterday afternoon until they closed at 9:30 p. m., the great building was packed and the management feel that the prospects are good for the largest attendance ever held in Boston.

FIRE FIGHTERS SAVE 4 WOMEN

LYNN, Oct. 9.—Four women, overcome by smoke, were rescued by firemen from a second story window in a spectacular fire in a three-story tenement block at No. 19 Union street this morning.

Mrs. Mary Green, who was sick in bed on the second floor, was helped out to a piazza, where firemen carried her to safety down ladders. On the same floor, little Walter Bailey, the three-year-old son of Mrs. L. J. Bailey, was lifted with trouble and also saved through the assistance of Mrs. M. H. Ryan, who helped Mrs. Bailey carry the lad to a piazza. Denis Lallamme, a third-floor tenant, jumped from a window but landed on a piazza fifteen feet below and was taken down unhurt beyond a shaking up by firemen. Mrs. Ida Burtnam with her two children, aged six and eight years, were overcome by smoke and had to be rescued through windows. All the injured, it is believed, will recover.

CHAPTER III.

"I NOTICED you were working upon a sized hull, as I came in the yard," I observed.

"Yes," he said. "That is a compliment we look over considerable. The owners withdrew the order when they heard of our misfortune. So we are completing it ourselves."

"If you don't object," I said rising, "I should like to look it over."

"Certainly," he replied, rising and taking his hat. "I will go with you. The Pinkertons would bother you alone."

I found the hull almost completed. Painters were at work in the cabins and the decks were being laid.

Down into the depths we plunged until we reached the lower tier of girders that brace the sides of the hull. It was the first time I had ever been inside the vertebrals of a ship, and I looked about with interest. On all sides the curving walls of steel sloped to the holds overhead. Rivets, bolts and screwnuts showed up in the light of a flare lamp a workman carried for us.

"All this steel is of the finest quality made," commented Ledgeworth. "Yet, I have a horror of her ever going into commission. I would rather break her up as she is and sell her for scrap."

"There seems to be some water in her," I observed, nodding at a glint reflected by the torch in the region of the keel.

"That is just a little leakage from the upper works," he returned, after a glance. "You know it all finds its way to the bottom. There isn't more than a few gallons at the very most or the pumps would get it."

Returning from a most careful inspection of the region of the keel, crawling over braces and around stanchions, I, being awkward in these undertakings, kicked some object which fell to the bottom and gave a splash as it struck the water.

"What was that?" I asked.

Strange Package

We halted and peered into the depths below. All we could see was a paper package, burst open. Our guide went down after it and returning declared it was only a package of putty.

"Putty!" I repeated after him in some surprise. "This is a strange place for putty."

"No," returned Mr. Ledgeworth, "not so strange as it seems. We are just under the cabin accommodations. There is extensive plumbing through the cabin. I don't know just where the sinners are, but they are there just overhead somewhere and run to the cabin."

"Still, I can't see why the putty was left here," I persisted.

"I remember now," said our guide; "just before the hold overhead was laid the plumbers were making a bend on one of the 'I' beams. They ran out of sand for an 'S' trap and tried to use a putty snake to bend the pipe with."

This was doubtlessly intelligent to Mr. Ledgeworth, but to me it was Greek. As I was satisfied, I could do no more than drop the matter.

"Anyway," I concluded, "you are sure it was putty?"

"I have said our guide, confidentially, "I could tell by the greasy paper what was in it."

That isn't sufficient for me," I insisted. "I want to know what is in that package."

"Oh, I'll get it," said the guide. "I didn't think—"

"Get it, John, and bring it to the office," interrupted Mr. Ledgeworth. "Let us get out of here. I can't stand this heat."

We had scarcely reached the office before our late guide bolted in and dropped a flabby package on the floor and began to rub his hands briskly, muttering wrathful oaths.

(To Be Continued To-morrow.)

CONTEST CONDITIONS

THE fifth story will run through the week. The final chapter, in which the mystery will be solved, will be printed in next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN.

The only day on which no instalment of the story will appear will be Saturday. The next to the last chapter will be printed Friday, and then everybody will have until 6 p. m. Saturday in which to solve the mystery.

The person who solves the mystery most accurately will receive the first prize of $50.

If no one solves the mystery accurately, the one who comes nearest to a correct solution will receive the first prize.

REMEMBER

That this is a test of SKILL IN THINKING, not skill in writing. All you have to do to win first prize is to THINK OUT the solution of the mystery QUICKER than somebody else. The literary merit of the answers will not be considered.

That in case two or more answers are equally correct, the prizes will be awarded ACCORDING TO THE POSTMARKS ON THE ENVELOPES, the one mailed first receiving the first prize, etc.

That persons living at a distance from Boston have just as good a chance to win prizes as those who live right in Boston.

NO ANSWER POSTMARKED LATER THAN 6 P. M. SATURDAY WILL BE CONSIDERED.

Address all communications to PRIZE STORY EDITOR, BOSTON AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

LABOR NEWS

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL 96 BOSTON, MASS

In the general agitation to build up the organizations in Taunton, Thomas F. Tracy, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor, addressed the Stove Mounters' Union and Cloth Folders' Union of that city last night. To-night he speaks before the unions of spinners, carders and metal polishers. To-morrow night he will appear before the city laborers and on Friday night he will address the painters, carpenters and machinists. Next week he will speak before the horseshoers, plumbers and retail clerks.

A public mass meeting of all the crafts of Taunton will be held October 21 to consider the labor records of candidates for the Legislature. Besides Mr. Tracy, Secretary-Treasurer D. D. Driscoll of the State Branch, A. F. of L., and other prominent labor leaders will speak.

STERLING TO SPEAK.

The Executive Board of the Central Labor Union announces that Henry Sterling will speak on the initiative and referendum at the Faneuil Hall meeting, to be held next Friday, October 11. At this meeting Representative Robert Luce will reply to Senator Lodge's recent address against the public opinion bill.

BLACKSMITHS ELECT.

Blacksmiths' Helpers' Union No. 544 last night elected the following officers: President, William J. Berry; vice-president, Thomas Gardiner; recording secretary, Alexander Anderson; financial secretary, Charles Sullivan; treasurer, William J. O'Brien. The union now meets on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month at No. 18 Kneeland street.

LABOR NOTES.

Insurance Agents' Union No. 1 last night made further arrangements for its public ball on November 22 at Paine Memorial. Union has purchased seats tonight at No. 105 Portland street.

Garment Workers' Union No. 1 donated $5 to the striking Lynn workers and $10 to the Head Pressmen's Union for organizing fund.

The Wage Earners' Trade Union Club meets tonight at Wage Earners' Hall No. 1,109 Columbus avenue, Roxbury Crossing.

Five dollars has been voted to the Frank R. Foster Testimonial Fund by Allied and Building Carpenters' Union.

Boston Association No. 12, N. A. S. E., will hold its twelfth anniversary ball in Paul Revere Hall November 28.

Building Trades' Section of the Central Labor Union will meet Friday night, Oct. 11, at Scollon Hall, when the organizing committee will make its report. All delegates are required to be present.

WOULD PLACE UNIONS UNDER STATE CONTROL

Proposing that trades unions be placed under State control, Secretary W. E. Hayward of the Master Builders' Association has made known his opposition to all bills providing for picketing during strikes and lockouts. Secretary Hayward gives this reason for wishing to place unions under State control:

"Inasmuch as they are a peculiar institution and operate as no other combinations do in interference with the freedom of the individual in the matter of employment, as well as in embarrassing the conduct of business in such fashion that even processes of injunction cannot be made effective.

"It may be difficult," said Mr. Hayward, "and perhaps impossible, to so incorporate them as to secure their immunity against their improper acts, but the affairs of such bodies should at all times be open to inspection by and subject to the control and direction of proper officers of the Commonwealth."

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SAVED FROM CONSUMPTION

The mother and sister of Alex. Hurd, 28 Horton St., Lewiston, Me., died of consumption and he was considered doomed, but Father John's Medicine saved him.

STOP THE STRENUOUS LIFE

Weakens the Tissues and Lessens Organic Vitality.

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country tends to weaken stomach troubles.

The frantic rush for pleasure, money and excitement is bringing serious results. Eliminate food, late suppers, overeating and too much drinking are some of the causes of stomach weakness for which the individual is responsible.

Five people suffer to-day where one did ten years ago with sick headache, dizziness, faintness, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms of indigestion.

All who are suffering with stomach troubles, and that means at least two out of three in Boston and other towns, should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. Nothing else is as safe, yet effective, nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion and dyspepsia. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known, and is actually one of the most valuable discoveries in modern medical science.

It is not a mere digestive taken after the food is eaten, but a true tonic, stimulant and strengthener for the muscular walls of the stomach, increasing the flow of digestive fluids and putting the stomach into such condition that it does the work Nature expects of it. It is an absolute and lasting cure for it banishes all weakness and debility from the stomach and bowels.

Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere for 50 cents, and we positively guarantee to refund your money should you purchase a box and be dissatisfied with results. Write for free sample, addressing Booth's Mi-o-na, Box 977, Buffalo, N. Y.

Watch the Daughter of the House as the Apple of Your Eye

By Beatrice Fairfax

THE young daughter of the house is a great responsibility.

All too frequently she is allowed to steer her own way through life and its perplexities, and sometimes her little lifeboat runs into very serious difficulties.

Just at the age when she most needs guidance and care she is without them.

Her mother is, perhaps, fully occupied with the cares of a growing family, and little Miss Seventeen is left more to her own devices.

She comes and goes as she wills, makes all sorts of acquaintances and revels in what she calls her independence.

In reality she is nothing but a baby, and knows absolutely nothing of the world and its pitfalls.

If a man is good looking, well dressed and smooth of speech she thinks he is all right.

If he encourages her to meet him on the sly and tell her mother nothing about him she thinks the situation romantic. It does not occur to her that he is a contemptible cad, nor that she should have nothing more to do with him.

Young Eyes Blinded

The young eyes are completely blinded by his superficial attractions.

She is apt to rush into sudden friendship with girls whose friendship can do her no good.

She is so ready and eager to see life in every way that she hesitates at nothing that she imagines will further her desire.

Her great ambition is to be a woman of the world, and she is sometimes a bold and flippant, with the idea that both qualities are worldly ones.

At heart she is sound and sweet and pure, but she needs careful watching and guidance to keep her so.

She is really the one of all the family that needs the greatest care, and she gets about the least.

Her overworked mother feels that at last her girl is old enough to look after herself.

Her brothers are too busy running after other fellows' sisters to pay much attention to their own.

Sister Is Careless

Her big sister, if she has one, is fully occupied with her own affairs, and so the little woman is left to paddle her own canoe" to an alarming extent.

This all wrong, and parents and brothers should realize it ere it is too late and confidence.

You will be naturally reserved and rather difficult of approach, but you will make many slow but sure friendships.

You will have tremendous will power, so that your speech will be decidedly emphatic, and your executive ability will make it possible for you to lead and control others.

October's birthstone is the opal, which means hope. The fear of ill-luck, which was formerly associated with this stone, seems to have been dissipated. Here are some little lines about it:

"October's child is born for woe,
And life's vicissitudes must know;
But lay an opal on her breast
And hope will lull all woes to rest."

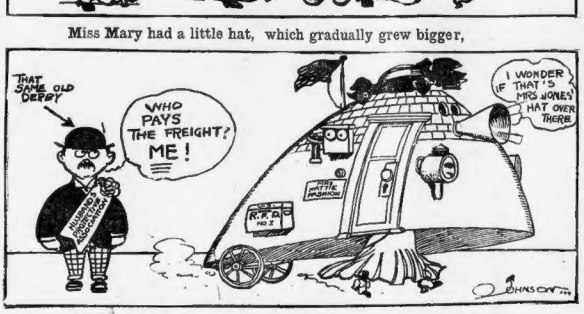
The flower for October is the hop. It means injustice.

ATTRACTIVE PINCUSHIONS

AN attractive pincushion is made in the form of a boat, with two pieces of white canvas, embroidered around the edge in pale blue, and the edges bound with narrow blue satin ribbon, which is tied in bows at both ends. The inside of the boat contains the pincushion. This is stuffed with wool wadding and covered with blue silk, ruffled. Small and large blue-headed pins are stuck in it.

THE ONLY LOGICAL ENDING OF THE PREVAILING FASHION

Miss Mary had a little hat, which gradually grew bigger,



Until at last it quite concealed Miss Mary's Face and "Figger"

Some Facts About Month of October

IS October your birth month? Here are a few interesting facts about it:

October gets its name from the Latin "octo," meaning eight, because to the Romans it was the eighth month of the year. This name was not altered when the calendar was changed in 713 B. C., when it became the tenth month.

October was called by the Slavs the "yellow month," from its changing leaves; and by the Anglo-Saxons "Winter fyllith," meaning the approach of Winter is the full moon.

The zodiacal sign is Scorpio, meaning the scorpion, typifying the destructive power of the approaching cold weather.

Astrologers state that those who be in the sign Libra, meaning scales or balances, from the 1st to the 23d of the month, and that if you were born during that period you are influenced more or less by this sign.

If you were born during the first period mentioned you will be conservative, thrifty and ambitious. You will have rare foresight, a hasty temper and a lover of luxurious surroundings.

If born during the second period, the oracles promise you, in addition, wonderful vitality, both mental and physical, by that you will be capable of prolonged endurance. You will be naturally reserved and rather difficult of approach, but you will make many slow but sure friendships.

You will have tremendous will power, so that your speech will be decidedly emphatic, and your executive ability will make it possible for you to lead and control others.

"THE TURN OF THE BALANCE"

A Thrilling Story of American Life by Brand Whitlock

CHAPTER III.—Continued

BILLS, choosing to take this as a tribute, smiled and went on:

"I think we're fully stacked just now, but—how would a sixty per cent proposition strike you?"

"No," said Gibbs, as decisively as before.

"No?" repeated Bills.

"No," Gibbs went on, "seventy-five."

Bills thought a moment, absently lifting the ruffled bird and replacing it.

"How many did you say there were?"

"They come to one-fifty," said Gibbs; "count 'em."

Bills did count them, and when he had done, he said:

"That would make it one-twelve-fifty?"

"That's it."

"Very well. Shall I pass the amount to your credit?"

"No, I'll take the cash."

"I thought perhaps Mrs. Gibbs would be wanting some things in the Summer line," said Bills.

Gibbs shook his head.

"We pay cash," said he.

Bills smiled, got up, walked briskly with a little spring to each step and left the room. He returned presently, closed the door, sat down, counted the bills out on the leaf of his desk, laid a silver half-dollar on top and said:

"There you are."

Gibbs counted the money carefully, rolled it up deliberately and stuffed it into his trousers pocket.

Gibbs had one more errand that morning, and he drove in his hansom-cab to the private bank Amos Hunter conducted as a department of his trust company.

Gibbs deposited the money and then went into Hunter's private office. Hunter was an old man, thin and white, with a pale face and a gray face. He sat with his chair turned away from the door, and when he seldom used except when it became necessary for him to sign his name, and then he did this according to the direction of a clerk, who would lay a paper before him, dip a pen in ink, hand it to Hunter, and point to the space for the signature.

A Morning's Work

Hunter was as economical of his energy in signing his name as in everything else; he wrote it "A. Hunter." He did this every day without moving, as it seemed, apparently determined to eke out his life to the utmost. His coachman drove him down town at 10 each morning, at 4 in the afternoon he came and drove him home again.

It was only through the windows of the carriage and through the windows of his own office that Hunter could look out on a world with which for forty years he had never come in personal contact. His inert manner gave the impression of great age and senility; but the eyes under the thick white brows were alert, keen, virile as they referred to Gibbs' errand, "old Amos."

Gibbs went in, a parcel in his hand.

"Just a little matter of some mutilated currency," he said.

Old Amos's thin lips seemed to smile, but they were the only part of the old man's face that moved. He held out his hand to receive the parcel, and Gibbs laid the bundle on old Amos's desk, and, taking up a sheet of paper, wrote on it and handed it to Hunter.

"Have you a memorandum there?" asked Hunter, glancing at the paper and wrote on the slip:

"A. H."

Then he assumed the attitude that had seemed to engage his mind all day, laid hands in his lap and sat there with his chin sunken on his chest.

Gibbs thanked him and went away. His morning's work among the business men of the city was done.

CHAPTER IV.

I PROMISED to be a quiet evening at Danny Gibbs's. There had been a vigorous campaign of stump speaking, but by 7 o'clock the lightning played prettily in the East, the thunder rolled away, the air cooled and the rain fell peacefully.

The storm had been predicted to Joe Mason in his rheumatism that had bitten his bones for two days, but now the aches had ceased, and Joe, who was a delicious sensation he was content simply to realize. He sat in the back room, smoking and reading, a letter in his hand. Gibbs's wife had gone to bed—she had been drinking that day.

Old Johnson, the sot who, by acting as porter, paid Gibbs for his shelter and the whiskey he drank—he ate very little, going days at a time without food—had set the bar room in order and disappeared. Gibbs was somewhere about, but all was still, and Mason liked it so.

From time to time Mason glanced at the letter. The letter was a foreign one; it had been written from a workhouse in a distant city by his old friend Dillon, known to the jeggs as Slim.

Mason had not seen Dillon for a year—not, in fact, since they had been released from Dannemora. This was the letter:

Old Pal: I thought I would fly you a kite, and take chances of its safe arrival at your left. I was logged wrong, but I am covered and strong and the bulls can't throw me. I am only here for a whop, and I'll hit the road before the dog is up. I have filled out a country jug that can be sprung all right. We can make a safe lamms. There is a John O'Brien at 1:30 a. m. and a rather early train. The shunk next door is a cold slough, and the nearest kip to the plant is one look and a peep. There is a speeder in the shanty, and we can get to the main stem and catch the rattler and be in the main burg by daylight. The trick is easy worth fifty centuries. Now let me know, and make your mark and time. I am getting this out through a broad who will give it to our full-back, you know who. Yours for the pen, SLIM.

Wife of Millionaire Gives Advice to Girls

For the sake of the good she may do in the world, Rose Pastor Stokes, wife of Millionaire J. G. Phelps Stokes, is answering letters of heart interest to working girls.

A girl desiring to see her father, from whom her mother has been divorced for fifteen years, appeals to her for advice in the matter, which contains the possibility of a tragedy to several persons. The letter and Mrs. Stokes's reply are printed below:

To Rose Pastor Stokes:

My mother has been divorced from my father ever since I was five years old. I am a girl of twenty years, and we have lived in this city for eight years. My mother is in this country with a second husband. My stepfather has always been kind to me, and has created my mother well. We are pretty well off, and may consider ourselves a happy family, at least, people often say of us.

My father was here until about a year ago. At that time my mother met my father at a bowling hall. At first she did not know that he was my father, but my father knew her and gave her a card to tell me all about it. Since then I was home when my father came, but my mother would not let me. She speaks horribly of my father, and says he is not worth knowing, and that he would spoil me if I saw him. I love my mother, and I know she is devoted to me, but I cannot help loving my father grows on me.

Will you please bear in mind it so much if it was not for something I know from my mother myself. I know that my father and mother never loved my stepfather, and that the real reason why she does not like my father is because she is afraid my father would tell me the truth, as he knows it too often, and that she would suffer from it. She has tried to forever keep him and me to live in peace with my stepfather, and she has succeeded, and are living together.

Now, I do not understand why my stepfather's sister should have told me all this. Do you think it is true. Please advise me how to act. I wish to repeat I love my mother dearly, and my father, too, but I am very anxious to know my father and to see him often. A. R.

Rose Pastor Stokes's Reply

YOUR stepfather's sister may believe what she has been telling you—that your mother's love for your father was more than your stepfather—but the happy life you have lived and are living together should be proof enough against your stepfather's sister's statement. If your mother loves you, and is happy in her second marriage, as your stepfather is in his choice of a wife.

Now you come as a stubborn link to hold together against each will, your mother and her past; your father and his past. Is the one you love dearer than the other? Is a desire for romance, for that is what I believe to be your "strong desire" to know the man who is all but a stranger to you, to be satisfied at the cost of a confident that must surely lead to the tragedy of three lives?

Not that this desire for romance is bad in itself, but only because it may lead to it and see your stranger-father as often as you like, but only by ceasing to live with and to see your mother can you prevent your father coming into and ruining the lives of those two people who love each other and who have been living together for and even then you may make them extremely unhappy as well as yourself.

Only you can decide. To judge whether you have the right to yield to a desire for romance, to judge whether the great possibility of tragedy to several is worth the risk, whether you have no right to know my own father? Yes, every right, under many circumstances. But the circumstances in your case are not ordinary. You should consider them all, it seems to me, and be honest with yourself when you do consider these and the consequence to others as well as to yourself.

If you decide you are not right, remember you are possessed of a will, and using that will. It is as simple to shake off an undesirable "desire" from one's soul as it is easy to shake the dust of travel from one's garments.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

NO RIGHT TO INTERFERE

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young girl of seventeen years old, and would like your advice. I am very much in love with a young man of three years my senior, but he is engaged to a young girl who lives in Albany.

I have heard he is as much attached to me as to the girl he is engaged to.

Would you advise me to give him up, or try to win his affection.

M. C.

MOST certainly give him up. He is an engaged man, and you have no right to interfere or try in any way to win his affection.

NOT LOVE, BUT NEAR IT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been seeing company with a young lady for the past six or seven months, also with my best friend is as long as I have known her. I have been out with him in several different places, also have called on her several times.

I live in the same neighborhood with this young lady, and sometimes when she hadn't seen me for a week or so she would walk past my house with some girl friend.

I have no serious intention of any kind as yet, but may have in the course of a short time. I am twenty-one years of age and she is about nineteen.

I really don't know whether I am in love with this young lady, or whether I am merely infatuated over her.

When in her company she never shows any encouragement whatever. Some time ago I happened to mention some girl's name to her, which girl she is always asking me about, and she told me I was getting along with my friend (mentioning her name).

Now, I want you to tell me, or do your best in telling me, what you think of my case; whether or not you think I am wasting my time on her.

Also your opinion on what she thinks of me. Thanking you in advance,

T. J. K.

I DO not think you are actually in love, but you are getting near it. I would not be surprised if you grew in time to really care for her. She seems interested in you, so why not go ahead and see if you can't win her. If she is a nice girl you are certainly not wasting your time.

NOT A GREAT DIFFERENCE

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am in love with a young lady three years my senior, and am assured that it is returned.

Please let me know whether the difference in ages should interfere with my keeping company and, in time to come, marrying, and greatly oblige.

H. G. R.

THE difference in your ages is not so very great, and I do not see why you should not be very happy if your love for each other is sincere.

Yankee Corn Cakes and Energy Capture This Englishwoman

By Thomas Buchanan

"LIKE your hot corn and your wheat cakes. I have had some on the other side, but while here I am going to get my fill of these things."

Mrs. Elinor Glyn, the most talked of woman novelist in England to-day, sighed longingly as she said this. Although she has come here to make a study of American energy in general, and mere man in particular, she forgot all these weighty problems as she dwelt with fervor on these American dishes.

"But what are your impressions of us?" I asked her.

"I have as yet had no time to form impressions," was the reply. "But the three ideas that have taken hold of me are: First, your big buildings; second, the strain of life here; and, third, the absence of English types on your streets.

A bit florid that description, but florid is the type of Mrs. Glyn's books, of her personality, of her beauty.

"The American man has interested me for years," she said. "When I first saw the American girl I realized the American men must be wonderful fellows to be the fathers, brothers, husbands and wives. I felt that the self-sacrifice, the love, the patience which made such women must be more worth while than we knew of in Europe.

Much Impressed

"The big intelligent look as though a giant must have put them up. And it seems to me that the very horses wear that energetic look in their eye, of which we hear so much.

"And the American woman?" was the next question.

"Daughters of America," she said, "are interesting. They are attractive and have a great deal to say for dressing smartly.

"But the men are even more interesting. They are quite the nicest I would not insult a woman in a railroad carriage as they do in other countries. Then, too, they have a well-developed sense of humor. They are not superficial, but go to the core of whatever they study.

"Over on the other side the men stay stationary, but over here it is 'push and forge ahead.' If I can come to any conclusion as to why these things are true, whether it is due to the mixed character of the people or the climate I may set forth my conclusions in a new book when I get home. I expect to like Americans, and I hope they will like me.

"Your public men push ahead and do things, and in a period your country progresses while other countries remain as they are."

To Give a New Idea

But what of this dainty invader's announcement of her intention of rehabilitating the American man? Only those of us who have been on the other side real how he is regarded over there—as the necessary but tiresome adjunct of the new heroine and provider for the glorious "American Girl."

And this is the idea which the invader from England has determined to eradicate. If you don't believe she can, it only means you have not seen and talked with Mrs. Glyn.

It was with the feeling of approaching an amusement duty that I knocked at the door of her room at the hotel. But the voice which said "Come in" instantly dispelled the feeling. It was low, pliant, something between the crisp tone of Ellen Terry and the note of Ethel Barrymore, a voice that could belong only to a rare personality.

The voice was a clear indication of the woman in the room.

"It was good of you to come," she said.

"You Americans are so generous to a stranger in your gates."

Then seeing her, one could think only of a description a man wrote once in a book about health, that wonderful woman of the Hebrews:

A Glowing Description

"At first glance she seemed small, but a second look convinced one it was but the perfect proportion of each part to the other that made her appear so. Her hair rippling back from the low, broad forehead that supported it seemed an enveloping halo of fine gold. Her eyes were twin seas, blue green, unfathomable, in which her light and dark thoughts made the sparkle and the shadows. Her mouth spelled love, only love. The curves and quite invisible to the casual gaze were the firm lines of power. And over all, delightening each beauty, enhancing every allurement, was that mysterious, radiating soul charm that binds even unto death."

A bit florid that description, but florid is the type of Mrs. Glyn's books, of her personality, of her beauty.

"The American man has interested me for years," she said. "When I first saw the American girl I realized the American men must be wonderful fellows to be the fathers, brothers, husbands and wives. I felt that the self-sacrifice, the love, the patience which made such women must be more worth while than we knew of in Europe.

The Race Misjudged

"Then I met some real American gentlemen and I saw the race of American men had been misjudged. I determined to see more of them."

The eyebrows arched a little more as she smiled.—"Do you think I have been too hasty?"

"Well, I think all the American men you've seen up till now are glad you came," was all I could suggest.

"I want to see more," she answered quickly, "because I have come to give them my opinion. I'm 'side'—and her voice took on a sarcastic tone and the shoulders elevated in scorn—"the idea of making so very much of a person because a girl when a mere drive from the pier to the hotel knows much more than the average American man has done. We have nothing like it on the other side. Nothing in London or Paris of this restless, driving, irresistible force that seems absolute part and parcel of this city and of the men of it. I, too, may call it nervous rush, hustle, or what you will, but there is a big side to it. It means force, and force to a woman is always attractive.

"No better hees could be found for my book than the forceful, true American man."

Mrs. Glyn's voice had been growing more and more earnest, more vibrant with feeling. Finally she stood up.

"I am going to study," she said.

IT'S TIME TO TRANSPLANT

ALL plants should be transplanted by the middle of October if possible. This is the best month of the Fall for transplanting, as there are many of the hardy plants that grow too large and cease to thrive well unless they are taken up and the roots divided every two or three years. Roses in fresh soil into which some well-decayed manure has been mixed.

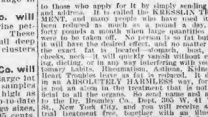
DON'T STAY FAT.

Obesity Quickly and Safely Cured. No Charge to Try the NEW KRESSLIN TREATMENT. Just Send Your Address and a Supply Will Be Sent You FREE.

Fat people need no longer despair, for there is a safe remedy to be had that will quickly and safely reduce their weight, and, in order to prove that it does take off superfluous flesh rapidly and without harm, a trial treatment will be sent, free of charge,



This represents the effect the Kresslin Treatment has had in hundreds of cases.

to those who apply for it by simply sending name and address. It is called the KRESSLIN TREATMENT, and is the result of years of study. The fats have been reduced as much as a pound a day, often without any apparent effort on the part of the user. It is a scientific preparation, and, as it will have the desired effect, and no matter where the fat may be located, as the abdomen, hips, cheeks, neck—it will quickly vanish without exercise or any change in the treatment that is not beneficial to all the organs. So send name and address to the Kresslin Co., Suite 1620, 1482 Broadway, N. Y. City, and you will receive a large trial treatment free, together with an illustrated book that tells all about the history of fatness, from those who have taken the treatment at home and reduced themselves to normal. All this will be sent without one cent to pay in any shape or form. Let them hear from you promptly.

Host and Guest in German-American Alliance Pilgrimage to Harvard

C. J. HEXAMER. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Snapshot by Boston American photographer at Harvard yesterday of President of German-American Alliance and Editor, at whose invitation the visit to the Germanic Museum was made.

NEW HOME AT HARVARD FOR GERMANIC MUSEUM

ENTHUSIASTIC AFTER THEIR VISIT, GERMAN DELEGATES TO RAISE $150,000.

More than two hundred delegates of the National German-American Alliance, who visited the Germanic Museum at Harvard, are to-day hastening to their homes, delighted with the result of their visit to Boston and the great university.

Dispatches to the BOSTON AMERICAN from New York state to-day that the recent of Mr. Hearst's interest in the museum here and his bringing of the delegates of the German-American Alliance to this city will result in a new building for the splendid museum.

"A new museum will be built and it is due alone to Mr. Hearst that this will be the result of our visit to Harvard," said Carl E. Gundlach, a delegate from Washington.

Other members of the party which returned to New York on the Fall River liner, Puritan, to-day, declare that they will immediately begin the raising of $150,000 for the erection of a new building at Harvard to house the Germanic Museum.

Albert T. Mahn, a delegate from New York, said he greatly favored the idea of a closer alliance between the Germans and the Irish.

"If," he declared, "the thirty per cent. of Irish immigrants and the twenty-seven per cent. of German immigrants got together, we would get better legislation and would be better treated by the law makers."

GERMAN-AMERICAN TRIP ACHIEVES GREAT RESULTS

The last of the National German-American Alliance delegates who came to Boston yesterday on a pilgrimage to the Harvard Germanic Museum as the guests of William Randolph Hearst, departed for Fall River last night, the main body having left the city by a special train chartered by Mr. Hearst, which left the South Station at 5:30 p. m.

The visitors were received with open arms by Governor Guild, Mayor Fitzgerald and President Eliot.

At a luncheon which Mr. Hearst gave at the Westminster Hotel in the afternoon the fact that a working alliance has been entered into between the organized Germans and the organized Irish was made public.

Call for Hearst Speech.

The headquarters arose as one man and drank as President Hexamer proposed:

"To our honored and esteemed friend, William Randolph Hearst!"

And the three "hochs" which followed were the loudest and most enthusiastic ever heard in Boston.

President Eliot, the venerable head of the university, welcomed the guests to Harvard in the hall of the museum, which he declared was doing a mighty work in strengthening the bond between Germany and the United States. He said, in part:

"We always knew that the Germans were strong in science, literature and art. Forty years ago we found that the Germans were strong in military art. Now we see how well and how much the Germans have accomplished in the fine arts.

We owe much to Germany, to the Emperor, the Princess and the German people, for they have taught us Americans that Germany is fond of all sorts of learning. Through the German Emperor, professors from Harvard and other American universities have exchanged places with professors in German universities and from this movement we have gained much.

Mayor Fitzgerald, in his address at Hotel Westminster reception, said, in part:

Thanks Mr. Hearst.

"I want to tk Mr. Hearst for the opportunity he has afforded me in behalf of the city of Boston to welcome this splendid gathering here. I read of the proceedings of your convention in New York on Monday. I learned with a great deal of pleasure that this young man who has been such a force in the community from the day he left Harvard University, something more than a dozen years ago, who is an enlightened newspaper world and public life has shown that aptitude, intelligence and interest in humanity which has made his name a household word, not only here in the United States, but everywhere in the world, and as Mayor of Boston I want publicly to thank him for the opportunity he has given the citizens of Boston to express their gratitude to the German-American Alliance for the work it is doing in behalf of civilization in bringing Germany and the United States together."

Welcomed to State.

Governor Guild said: "I have three apologies to make to you. First, Dass Ich Deutsch nicht reden kann; second, that I am obliged by the pressure of official duties at the State House to stay with you only for a few minutes, and thirdly, for the stormy weather.

"We are all happy to greet you here in Massachusetts. Mayor Fitzgerald will extend the greetings of Boston. We greet you on the ground that Massachusetts, proud as she is of her achievements and the achievements of her sons, is proud as she is of tiling part of the United States. We greet you as fellow Americans."

VIOLIN RECITAL BY MACMILLEN

Lovers of violin music enjoyed a rare treat at Symphony Hall last evening in the violin recital given by Francis Macmillen, assisted by Mme. Rosina Van Dyke, soprano, and Herr Richard Hageman, accompanist. Mr. Macmillen was at his best, perhaps, in the allegro energies of the Vieuxtemps concerto, where his wonderful bowing and showers of double stopping thrilled out the large audience, who warmly demanded an encore. Another encore was demanded at the pyrotechnic display in Raudegger's "Bohemian dance, and a daintier rendition of Mozart's menuet. Macmillen has been heard in Boston. Mr. Macmillen made a masterful effort, but very little marred, in the last piece, a fantasie for the G string, by Paganini, which piece is seldom played perfectly.

The soprano, Mme. Rosina Van Dyke, rendered very acceptably E. David's Chanson du Mysoli, and in her last number, the mad scene from Hamlet, was heartily encored.

CARRIAGE BUILDERS IN BIG CONVENTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Over 600 members of the Carriage Builders' National Association of the United States are in attendance at the thirty-fifth annual convention. Henry M. Duncan welcomed those present on behalf of the New York carriage builders, and John Hassett of Amesbury, Mass., responded.

SCALY ERUPTIONS COVERED HIS BODY

Itched Constantly—Scratched Until Blood Flowed—Suffered 10 Years —Doctors and Medicines Were Fruitless—Tries Cuticura and Is Completely Cured

BY THREE BOXES OF CUTICURA OINTMENT

"When I was about nine years old small red spots appeared on each of my lower limbs. I scratched them with a brass pin and shortly afterwards both of those limbs became so sore that I could scarcely walk. When I had been suffering for about a month the sores began to heal, but small scaly eruptions appeared where the sores had been. From that time onward I was troubled by such severe itching that, until I became accustomed to it, I would scratch the skin until the blood began to flow. This would stop the itching for a few days; but scaly places would appear again and the itching would accompany them. After I suffered about ten years I made a determined effort to effect a cure. The eruptions by this time had appeared on every part of my body except my face and head. I went to the best doctor in my native county advised me to use arsenic in doses and a salve. I then used to bathe the sores in a mixture which gave almost intolerable pain. In addition I tried other remedies, such as iodine, sulphur, zinc salve, Salve, Ointment, and in fact I was eventually giving some remedy a fair trial, never using less than one or two boxes or bottles. All this was fruitless. Finally my hair began to fall out and I was rapidly becoming bald. I took 4 cakes but it did no good. A few months after, having used almost everything else, I thought I would try Cuticura Ointment, having previously used Cuticura Soap and being pleased with it. After using three boxes I was completely cured, and my hair was restored, after fourteen years of suffering, and an expenditure of at least $50 to $60 in vainly endeavoring to find a cure. I shall be glad to write to any one who may be interested in my cure. B. Hiram Mattingly, Vermillion, S. Dak., Aug. 18, 1906."

HUB SOCIETY WOMAN WEDS IN SECRET

Mrs. Isabele Hunnewell Harriman, daughter of Arthur Hunnewell of Boston and the divorced wife of Herbert M. Harriman, was married yesterday in the rectory of the Church of the Ascension, New York, to J. Searle Barclay, Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Searle Barclay, Sr., of Manhattan and Long Island.

Mr. Barclay and the former Mrs. Harriman maintained the strictest secrecy concerning their intentions. In the afternoon they went with several witnesses to the rectory of the church of the Ascension at Fifth avenue and Tenth street. There, after a short conversation with Mr. Barclay, the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, the rector, consented to perform the ceremony.

The doors of the church were fastened securely against possible intruders, and the party passed in from the rectory. The knot was tied, and Mr. and Mrs. Barclay departed hurriedly.

Both bride and bridegroom are well known in the New York, Newport and Long Island sets, and are related to many of the most prominent families in Boston and in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Barclay are now at the Hunnewell country place, at Wellesley.

Mrs. Harriman, now Mrs. Barclay, is a cousin of Hollis Hunnewell, jr., who married Mrs. Belle Neilson Kemp, sister of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt and daughter of Mrs. Frederick Neilson, who had divorced Arthur Kemp, after he himself had been divorced by his first wife, the former Miss Maude Jaffray, who later remarried again, becoming the wife of John Stanbury Tooker.

Mrs. Barclay's first husband is a brother of Oliver Harriman, of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, sr., of Mrs. Stephen H. Olin, of Mrs. Frederick O. Havemeyer, formerly Mrs. William Travers, and is a cousin of E. H. Harriman.

Be at Your Best.

It is not a question of how long we live, but how well we live. To drag a frail, diseased body through an earthly existence is to lead a living death. Energy begs, hopeless diminishes and every phase of life becomes gloomy and hopeless. It should be the purpose of every person to get the most out of his life, as our existence covers but a small period. We should put our bodies in a condition to perform the highest possibilities. The best and safest means is to use Dr. Burkart's Vegetable Compound, which energizes the nerves and puts into the veins pure, rich blood. Puts the entire system undergoes a complete change, producing splendid physical and mental qualities, destroying all diseases of the kidneys, liver, blood and stomach, with the following distressing symptoms: Pains in the side, back and muscles, nervous shoulder blades, numbness sensation, palpitation of the heart, constipation, poor appetite, sleeplessness, etc. Thirty days' treatment 25c. What Rival Managers Say

BY HUGH JENNINGS.

We should have won, but, never mind, the Tigers will come stronger yet, and make a great finish. They love hard work, and now that we have sized up the Cubs, we will land the big end of the purse.

BY FRANK CHANCE.

I think we have the Tigers' measure and will win out inside the seven games. Our pitchers will outpoint the Tiger boxmen and our base-running will land the money. I think we had the better of the first contest.

BY ADRIAN JOSS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The opening clash between the Cubs and Tigers for the world's championship was one grand struggle and although the outcome leaves the strength of the teams as much a matter of conjecture now as it was Tuesday morning, the playing gives one something of a line on their respective merits.

The fielding of both clubs was nothing out of the ordinary with the possible exception of two plays. One was by Evers in the fourth. With Crawford on second and Rossman on first he raced out into center and pulled down Coughlin's short fly, doubling Sam, who had started for the plate, thinking the hit was going safe. The other and the play that wound up the game was Schaefer's catch of Chance's awful smash. He got the ball with his gloved hand while running at full speed toward second and double Steckard, who had been hit by a pitched ball.

The hitting was about even. The Tigers' hits were all clean, hard drives, while a majority of the Cubs bit slow-hit balls that the infielders couldn't get to, in order to make the outs.

Donovan's pitching on the whole was much better than Overall's, while in the few innings that Rheinbach was on the slab he was invincible.

"Wild Bill's" work was brilliant because he was continually pulling himself out of tight holes. His judgment all day seemed perfect.

A striking example of this was shown when Zimmerman was replaced Tinker after the ninth, came to bat in the eleventh, with the bases full and one out. Bill put on a little extra steam, getting two strikes and no balls with two fast ones. The third ball he pitched was at the batter's head, driving him away, while the last one started right for the middle of the plate, but took a quick break, and the youngster missed it a foot.

Overall, waine he pitched a good game all the way, didn't seem to have near the things at his command that Donovan used so well.

KLING EXCELS SCHMIDT.

Kling outcaught Schmidt, and to this fact can be attributed the Cubs' numerous stolen bases. The Detroit backstop was far from being in his usual form.

It was the missing of a third strike by him that let Steinfeldt romp across the plate with the first run in the ninth, when, had he held it, the game would have been over.

"Johnny" Kling gave a grand exhibition of catching and general all-round playing.

The Cubs had a golden opportunity to win in the tenth, but Steinfeldt queered it away. With Slagle on third and Chance on second Schmidt had a fast one passed ball. "Jimmy" came tearing for the plate at top speed as Schmidt scooped up the ball while Donovan hustled in to cover the plate.

"Jimmy" seemed to have the throw beaten, but as Schmidt drew back his arm to make the throw Steinfeldt got in his way, blocking the throw. Slagle crossed the plate amid wild excitement, and the crowd, thinging the game over, started to pour into the field, but on Donovan's protest O'Day promptly called Slagle out for Steinfeldt's interference and the Tigers were saved.

"Steiney's" good judgment on the play looked very bad.

Both Teams Game.

Both clubs showed gameness that proves conclusively that the series will be fought to the bitter end. Both teams came from behind, the Tigers in the eighth, when they scored three runs, and the Cubs, when they tied the score in the ninth, in each case overcoming a handicap that would have disheartened less worthy opponents.

If Tuesday's game can be taken as a criterion of the clubs' playing ability, then it can be safely said that the series will equal if not excel that of last year that made the Sox world's champions.

Play will be resumed at the South End Grounds to-day for the Hub championship and the second contest reeled off, with the Doves going their limit, to even up that win of the Pilgrims in the opening game.

Conditions Favor Doves.

The conditions are all in favor of the Doves this time, on their own grounds, where they have played sixty odd games this season, besides daily practice thereon, and every foot of the field is familiar to them, while the Pilgrims will have to get acquainted with their surroundings, and they have not got that left field down to such a science; for instance, as Dave Brain, who has been furnishing his family with shoes as a result of ten homers he has put over the aforesaid barrier.

Teams Full of Fight.

The Hub fans are still divided over the result of the series, but the odds are now slightly in favor of the Americans, and they strengthened their position by taking the first game. Should the Doves win to-day it will look like an even choice going then ever.

Both teams have got the winning fever strong and the bunch of money they divide up is naturally an incentive to play the game the hard.

Watching the two teams clash in the first game of the series was positive proof that each is out for the large end of the purse, and wound up, as they are, from a season's hard playing, are just fit for to show some exceptional bits of diamond work.

Pat Flaherty, with his left side curves, should be able to bother the Pilgrims, as they have not taken kindly to southpaws lately, and Pat has a way of sneaking the ball over the plate when the batter isn't watching, which will keep the Pilgrims on the jump. George Winter will be a big obstacle for the Doves, too, and it will probably be a pitcher's battle.

PILGRIMS AND DOVES IN DOUBLEHEADER TO-MORROW

The Pilgrims and Doves will have at least one doubleheader in their games for the closing engagement.

The teams will give the fans a bargain day treat to-morrow, when two contests are carded for the Huntington avenue grounds.

O'BRIEN MARVEL OF SPEED IN BOUT WITH DESHLER

After a whirlwind mill of ten rounds last night at the Winnisimmett A. C. in the burg of Chelsea it was no easy matter to pick a winner between Dave Deshler of Cambridge and Roose O'Brien of South Boston. The followers of the colb have seen some pretty fast exhibitions, but they all faded in the light of the show which this stellar pair of lightweights put up. Such terrific action, fast stepping and superlative hitting has not been on the cards for many moons, and it was a case of who had the most speed and could carry it to the finish.

In this respect O'Brien had the slight the best of it. He did not get in his stride till the fifth round was on, but from then on he was the aggressor, and with lightning lefts and rights, hooks, uppercuts and jabs that fairly dazzled the Cambridge boy and the fifty fans present, he had finished all left to Deshler's head time and again, as the one terrible wallop was something Dave had not been instructed to meet, and O'Brien's eyeless quickness in delivery made him look brilliant beside Deshler.

But there was a lack of force in O'Brien's punches, as they failed to jar Deshler to any extent and it was only when he got a succession of thuds on the head that he showed up at any time of the bout.

O'Brien Mixed Freely.

O'Brien could have stood up and outfought Deshler, but he preferred to take chances by shifty footwork and fasten his attack on the head, which got him every direction, ripping uppercuts under the chin and whipping them over the head.

In the opening round Deshler was the aggressor, and he was right after O'Brien into position for a right over. The latter was too sharp to be caught napping and pulled out of some tight places, as he usually made several misses in swinging. Deshler countered with a left to the jaw in the second round and followed it with a right to the head, which also caused O'Brien to close up.

The third was a fast matched, the same back and set the pace going to the end.

O'Brien got ferocious in the third round and both landed like sledges during a mix with both hands, neither giving way an inch. O'Brien succeeded in getting home a left to the head, and shooting steady rights over the same left jabs and finally got a chance to score, as his foe cut out the pace a bit. The same thing happened in the seventh and Deshler displayed a cut over O'Brien's left eye as the result of his many-angled punches.

Deshler Got Going.

Deshler showed a desperate mood in the eighth and closed in jolting hard at short range. O'Brien took a chance with a lay-maker in the mouth that rattled Dave's ivories, but failed to stop him from belting in and planting some hot ones with a short swing.

It was fast and furious in the windup, O'Brien slipping in clean body shots and Deshler also left left to the face.

The semi-final between Johnny Mahan and Fred Ryan, both of Cambridge, went into the second round, when Mahan had enough.

JOE WAGNER IN SPEEDY BATTLE WITH DUFRESNE

AUGUSTA, Oct. 9.—Joe Wagner of New York fought six speedy rounds here last night before the Augusta Athletic Club with Napoleon Dufresne, French-Canadian 120-Pound Champion of America. The bout was fairly tried hard for a knockout, but the Frenchman was too clever is stall ing him off.

Wagner had the best of the early part of the fight, damaging Dufresne's eye frequently with a wicked left. The Canadian did some clever infighting and during the last two rounds kept the New York boy away.

"Pile Driver" Greey of St. John, N. B., had Jim Metzger of Holbrook out at the end of the fifth in the semi-windup, and the fight was stopped.

Jimmy Walsh will fight either Wagner or Dufresne here in a couple of weeks.

COLUMBIA BOYS THREATEN TO DISBAND

Unless the rule prohibiting Columbia students who have entrance conditions from competing in athletics is revoked the athletic organizations will probably be compelled to disband, for the simple reason that there will not be a sufficient number of men eligible to form the various teams. The rule, which went into effect on September 1 of this year, states in substance that all students having any entrance conditions will be debarred from all athletic contests.

This means that 67 per cent of the men in the college division and 72 per cent. of the science men will be ineligible to compete on the teams. By enforcing the rule the college's teams suffer considerably, but the freshman teams will practically have to be disbanded.

COOPER CLUB TO OPEN MONDAY

Great interest is being aroused in the opening meeting of the Cooper S. and A. C., at its rooms in Bowdoin square next Monday night. A 6-round bout between Young Callaghan of Roxbury and Young Chisholm of Everett will open the show, and this will be followed by a six-round bout between Jack Flavin of Cambridge and Tommy Hanson of East Boston. In the final event, fifteen rounds to a decision, Percy Cove of Seattle will face Al Delmont, the local champion.

LYNCH SAVED BY HIS GAMENESS

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 9.—Johnny Lynch of Cambridge barely managed to stay the limit in his fifteen-round bout with Al Delmont of Medford at the Standard A. C., Centralville, his great gameness keeping him afloat.

Delmont tried hard to land a knockout punch, but he didn't have it with him, and Lynch, although crushed and battered pitifully helpless, stuck it out until the bell changed.

Notes of the Harness Horses

Trainer Henry Titer had the trotting gelding Sir George S., 2:07¼, by Sir Walter, 2:11¼, out for a mile last evening over the Readville track. Hal, and timed in 2:17¼.

Prince Hamlin, 2:17¼, is a son of Dare Devil, 2:09, and his dam is by Hamlin Patchen, 2:12¼, in the property of J. Al. Perrin, Fall River, and was four years old last spring.

Trainer Ed. Ridley of Readville track believes he will have a mighty fast 3-year-old trotter Knight, by Ringer. He has been working him a little this fall, and last week he turned the track handily in 2:35.

Sweet Marie and Mary Delmar have been matched for a three-heat race, Pittsburg, Pa., for $5,000 a side on October 16, which will be the closing event of the season. They will meet in a similar wager over the Empire City track.

The Notice is forecasted that is matched to race Hedgewood Bell for a $5,000 purse at Syracuse, N. Y., on October 22. The latter has worked a trial in 2:12¾.

The American-bred stallion Peter the Great, 2:06¾, was the winner of the Kinsman Purse at Cleveland, defeating a strong field of the best foreign horses.

Notes of the Diamond

Jack Thoney, the Pilgrims' ace outfielder, is in Cincinnati, and will play with the Reserves for the remainder of the season. Jesse Tannehill will be player manager. Helene Pratt will be manager of the Reserves. Bill Sweeney, the Newport boy with the Boston Nationals, will be with the Reserves when Tannehill gets to the Queen City next year, will play shortstop, and George Brain will play third. Thoney will be placed in left field, Dolly Gray in center and Nick Allen in right.

Bobby Lush, the former Cleveland outfielder, got into the game with the Cubs again next season. Lush played his last game with Cleveland in 1906, but was released to the Toledo club of the American Association. Lush's left wing has been all to the bad this year, the result of a bone felon, and he was unable to play. He has been threatened for a time, but Lush claims his left wing is now entirely recovered, and that he will be in condition to play the game of his life next year. Lush batted .311 last year, and will be a big addition to the Cubs, if possible he may be either traded or outrighted.

Bobby H. Gilson, a graduate of Notre Dame University, and a member of the Notre Dame baseball team, has just been secured as an instructor in general and analytical chemistry at Wabash College. Gilson was a pitcher with the Kansas City Blues for three years. Later he was with Cincinnati, on the pitching staff of the Washington American League team and then for three years was with the Boston Americans.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb and "Wild Bill" Donovan, the Detroit Cubs and Tigers, did more than any one else to put the Tigers in front, may go on the Cubs next year. Donovan thinks the two players would be a great drawing card and would help the Cubs financially. The Cubs' management at his showdown.

Manager Frank Selee, Stroebel, having purchased him outright. It is said that Preston Gibson has been offered $12,000 for Stroebel from that club, and that Manager Carson has refused it. Stroebel is property of the Boston National team.

Willie Keeler will hit under .300 this year, for the first time in his career. It's been a bad year for Mr. Willie.

CHAMPION GANS TURNS DOWN ATTELL

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Abe Attell is foiled again.

The featherweight champion received the coldest turndown of his career last evening when Joe Gans, lightweight champion, told Abe he had better tend to his own class and not bother about the rich men of classes higher up.

The proposition of fighting Attell six rounds in Philadelphia was put up to Gans flatly.

He laughed it off. "The public would not stand for it," he said, "and I wouldn't make the match. He is a great little boy, but I am a great fighter because I hit harder and am eleven or twelve pounds heavier. No use of Abe making any more cracks about it."

So Abe is foiled again.

He has made more offers to fighters than any other in the ring and received less encouragement.

Crimson's Third Game in Stadium To-day

HARVARD TO PLAY BATES

PROBABLE LINEUP.

HARVARD.		BATES.
Burr, Fiske, Lb.	r.e.	Schumann
Hall, Wendell, Jr.	r.t.	Carroll
Bell, Wheeler	r.g.	Cassidy
Felton, Fitz	c.	Colgrove
Reid, Wendell	l.g.	Cochran
Bird	l.t.	Crean
Mitchell, Starr	l.e.	Cummings
Lockwood, Ilsley	q.b.	Rodick
Mason, Dibblee	l.h.b.	Hodgdon
Mason, Dibblee	r.h.b.	Sargent

Harvard's football eleven will play its third game of the season this afternoon when the strong team of Cambridge at 4 o'clock. The Bates team being the attraction this time.

There promises to be some tricky playing in the contest to-day. The Bates team has always been noted for this style of play, and as they have scored on the Crimson for the past two years, their work this afternoon will be watched with interest. The contest last season was won by Harvard, 27 to 6.

The Harvard coaches will put their strongest team on the field. Gilbert's place at right half-back will be taken by Rand and Waterbury's position at full back will be filled by Mason.

Officials for Game.

The officials will be: J. A. Evans of Williams, referee; A. M. Langford of Trinity, umpire; H. L. Dudman of Worcester, field judge, and F. Wood of the R. A. A., linesman. The time will probably be 20m halves.

The Harvard team was yesterday afternoon put through the most thorough rudimentary drill and the hardest and longest scrimmage practice of the year. The coach, bracing all put life into the players, and they showed better team work, a more thorough mastery of the individual features of football and greater snap than they have as yet exhibited.

YALE EXPECTS GOOD GAME WITH TRAINING SCHOOL TODAY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 9.—Yale expects a good game with the Springfield Training School eleven here to-day. The Yale lineup will be as follows: H. Jones or Biddle, l.e.; Price, l.t.; Bridges, l.g.; Hinkey, c.; Gochel, r.g.; Bigelow, r.t.; Burch, r.e.; T. Jones and Davis, q.b.; C. Wylie, l.h.b.; Homer, r.h.b.; Coy, f.b.

There was a long signal drill yesterday afternoon, after which there was a half hour of scrimmage work. The substitution of Foster and Biddle in the left wing of the varsity line weakened the varsity. The scrubs took advantage of Yale and pushed their way to the varsity's 10-yard line.

There is very little difference in the held the scrubs for downs. The varsity team, by vigorous line-backing, carried the ball out to the centre of the field, but failed to take it further. The play was nearly all in the varsity's territory, but neither team was able to score.

Walter Camp was again at the field and did some active coaching. He coached Gebbard and Lum up against Hibbs for some practice. Four new coaches arrived to-day. They are Dr. Raycroft, Dr. Corbin, Dr. Joe Swan, E. Ferguson, John Hall and Neal. They will be here for the rest of the week.

Coach Cutler coaches at the field this afternoon. The other coaches at the field are Dr. Raycroft, Paul Veeder, George Chadwick, Foster Rockwell, Dewitt Cockrin and George Adee.

CAPTAIN GLAZE OF DARTMOUTH TO TAKE A REST TO-DAY

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 9.—Dartmouth's lineup for the New Hampshire State game to-day will be: Kassuber (Kennedy), left end; R. Bankart, left tackle; Robbins (Bass), left guard; Brusse, centre; Tobin, right guard; Baldwin, right tackle; Saxton (Chandler), right end; Knight, quarterback; Hawley (Stuart), left halfback; Ingalls, right halfback; L. Bankart (Birch), fullback.

The Dartmouth coaches put the first and second teams through a fast, snappy signal practice yesterday. Afterward the first and third teams had scrimmage practice.

Kassuber, a freshman from Cleveland, O., showed up so strong that the coaches decided to give him a chance in the game. Knight will go in at quarter in place of Captain Glaze, who has been taking a rest.

HALF-PRICE SALE OPENS AT CONRAD'S

Winter Street Firm Commemorates Anniversary by Offering Big Bargains.

TO CONTINUE ALL WEEK

Just to make memorable their twenty-three years in business, the anniversary of which is being held this week, cloaks and misses' garments are to be sold by Conrad & Company, Nos. 25, 27 and 29 Winter street, at half price all this week.

Women's coats, suits, skirts, waists, party, evening and street costumes are being offered at one-half price for all of this week. And inasmuch as many clothe their girls, too, for but half of what they would ordinarily be compelled to pay for other clothing of all sorts, it is a sale that is indeed, for it is an anniversary offer that Conrad & Company are making the people of Greater Boston this week.

For twenty-three years Conrad & Company have conducted their women's and misses' clothing store in Boston.

Handsome Salesrooms.

Its store is handsomely fitted out and equipped for business. Throughout the establishment the fittings are of solid mahogany beautifully finished, and the floors are superbly carpeted. The stock is always kept in dust-proof cases, and this adds not a little to their value to the customer.

Extensive alterations and improvements have just been completed and those who are visiting the great anniversary sale this week see the great establishment at its very best. Great palms and chrysanthemums are used profusely on every floor and in every department of the great store to add a pretty autumnal color effect. Soothing music is used to refresh the downers.

Because the anniversary sales of Conrad & Company have become famed on account of the rare and really wonderful bargains which it gathers, the attendances this week are thronged as they never have been before. With one exception the goods in every department are to be sold this week at just one-half the usual prices, that exception being in the petticoat department, owing to the fact that the prices of silk taffetas, used in making these garments, has not yet reached a point at which the firm is able to make but a one-third cut in this line of goods.

Where to Find Bargains.

On the third floor is a new series of fitting rooms, well-lighted and with an abundance of full-length mirrors for the convenience of customers.

On the second floor the party and evening gowns and costumes are to be found as well as the street dresses. Here are also kept the extensive line of fancy costumes and boy furs of Conrad & Company now, may have them stored next Summer free of charge.

In the rear of this floor are kept the tailored suits and coats, and likewise the special line of goods for small women are always kept by Conrad & Company. The children's department is also on this floor.

On the first floor, on Street floor, is the regular department for women's suits and coats. This department has been recently enlarged and a much larger stock is now carried than formerly.

RUMOR 15 DEAD IN TORNADO

LEEDS, Ala., Oct. 9.—Fifteen persons are believed to have been killed by a tornado reported near here. The property loss is said to have been heavy. Telegraph wires are down, and it will probably be some time before details are received.

HOLE ON PANAMA RAILROAD REPAIRED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—A report from the isthmian canal commission says 120 feet of the main line track of the Panama railroad on the north end of a swamp or "sink hole" about three weeks ago. It was then discovered that under the French management old dump cars and rocks had been used in filling. The commission would not support the present heavier equipment, so a line of piles has been driven and the railroad now runs on these.

Railway Building and Who Profits by It

Copyright, 1907, by American Journal Examiner

More than forty years ago the first transcontinental railroads in the United States were built.

A number of gentlemen who had been convinced of the feasibility of constructing railroads across the Rocky Mountains and over the Sierra Nevadas went to Washington and lobbied through Congress a bill providing subsidies to cover the cost of the work.

It is a fact known to every schoolboy in the United States, and to every individual who has dwelt here long enough to acquire citizenship, that not one penny of the money of any private individual went into the construction of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads and, following them, of all other subsidized transcontinental lines.

The Government voted bonds, for the payment of which the faith of the nation was pledged, to provide $18,000 a mile for building the railroads across the flat prairies, $36,000 a mile for building the lines in the foothills, and $56,000 a mile for building the lines over the mountains.

Having acquired these subsidies, the promoters went ahead building the roads for a while, but subsequently, pleading that the money voted was not sufficient, they induced the government to allow its obligations to be a second mortgage and to permit them to issue bonds having as security the physical property of the roads as a first mortgage.

By a piece of rascality at that time unprecedented in the history of American legislation, they managed to have the promise to pay left out of the government bonds, which put the Government in the position of having no redress whatever except a lien on the value of the roads after the first mortgage bonds were paid.

Having issued two sets of bonds, and an amount of stock equivalent to both sets, the promoters of the road proceeded to acquire great wealth by organizing construction companies.

The Union Pacific Construction Company was known as the Credit Mobilier. The Central Pacific Construction Company was known as the Contract and Finance Company.

These two companies voted to receive the stocks and bonds of the road in payment for doing the work of building and equipping, and they provided the money for labor and material.

This was the first of the many construction company steals that are now being operated in the United States.

The Union Pacific and Central Pacific were constructed for much less than the original bonds the Government voted. If one has any doubt of that, he may observe, in passing through Utah, miles and miles of unused roadbed. The two companies, being anxious to acquire the largest possible amount of subsidy, had a race to see which could cover the ground the fastest, and the Central Pacific, getting its equipment first, was enabled to leave the Union Pacific with many miles of right of way on which a rail was never laid.

After the roads were completed and their earning power began, it was to be assumed that an honest management would provide a fund for betterments and a sinking fund for the payment of bonds, and that, furthermore, it would charge such rates for transportation and freight as were just and reasonable under all the circumstances.

The promoters of these transcontinental roads were captains of industry and Captain Kidds of finance. Instead of making reasonable rates for passengers and freight they charged not only exorbitant rates, but all the traffic could bear, and they took from their treasuries large sums of money to pay unearned dividends on the stocks of their corporations.

They announced that the receipts of the roads were so large that the dividends would be paid for an indefinite period, and on the strength of that announcement many millions of dollars' worth of the stock was sold in the United States and Europe, and for a considerable length of time its holders received dividend payments.

The Central Pacific people having disposed largely of their stock, and finding that there was still some money left over, built the Southern Pacific Railroad for themselves with the proceeds of bonds, the interest of which was guaranteed by the earnings of the Central Pacific.

This left the government bondholders and stockholders absolutely without any security, and enabled the promoters of the roads to acquire enormous fortunes—an enormous that a fourth interest in one secondary estate possessed by a grandchild is today rated in New York at upward of twenty millions of dollars.

In order to carry on the enterprises in this nefarious matter it was necessary for the promoters to subsidize Legislatures, own Judges, pack juries and influence Presidents.

And all of this happened forty years ago.

When the first disclosures came, Congress appointed a commission to investigate, and when the guilty parties were placed upon the witness stand and asked to tell how much money they had taken from the treasuries of the roads with which to buy members of the Legislatures, they secured from a Federal Judge an injunction prohibiting the commission from asking the question.

That was practically the beginning of American high finance.

Everybody in the United States familiar with the current events knew about it. Everybody in a general way knew that millions of dollars' worth of security had been issued and sold and made not only a lien upon the property but a dreadful tax upon the population of the Western States, not for purposes of railroading, but to enable the promoters to live lives of unbridled luxury.

It was proposed then, and it has been proposed a thousand times since, that laws be passed prohibiting the issuance of any stocks or bonds as evidence of indebtedness by any corporation in excess of money actually invested in the physical properties of the corporation.

No such law has ever yet been passed in the United States, because the nefarious corporations have been more powerful than the Legislatures. No doubt if such a law were passed some Judge would be found to declare it unconstitutional.

Every day thousands of sickly women and half-grown girls hang to straps in elevated and subway cars because a few have taken millions of dollars from the treasuries of the street railways and placed it in their own pockets.

Were the water squeezed out of the stocks of the transportation companies we could have the finest service in the world at half the present price.

Isn't it about time that the people of America woke up and protested against further plundering of this kind?

Little Editorials from the People

"AGAINST SHORT SELLING"

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

I wish you would direct the attention of the public and our State Legislature to a great evil. I refer to the "short" selling of stock on the Stock Exchanges. In other words, the selling of securities which are not owned by the seller at the time the sale is made, and which he or his broker is obliged to borrow from some genuine holder to make delivery the following day, for himself or his "bear" client. By this means a clique of men controlling the necessary cash required for margin on such "short" sales select one or more stocks which are vulnerable to sudden attack, and commence to "sell" the shares thus "short"—shares which they do not own, but which they know they may borrow—with the result that not only such stocks suffer a severe decline, but frequently the entire market breaks in sympathy. Frightened and innocent investors then become scared and tumble their securities upon the declining market at panic prices. Thus adding the malicious system of the very men who have frightened them into parting with gilt-edged holdings, too often representing the earnings and savings of years, and possibly in many instances the only reserve for their families.

Let us have State laws making such "short" selling and borrowing a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment—not a fine.

To Progress in This World, You Must Be Big and Broad and Tolerant of Every Change That Comes

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1907, by American Journal Examiner

In the New York Medical Record, Dr. Charles Page said in a paper called The Healing Art:

Among the harmful practices looming up at the present time, vaccination, and especially compulsory vaccination, takes the lead. And it is the deluded, or deluding, men in the profession who are urging this vile form of wholesale blood poisoning, that are keeping up the insane hunt for "germs," and working the chemical laboratories day and night to concoct "serums" to kill these "germs," whose hosts the patients are apt to die with them!

Dear old Professor Oliver Wendell Holmes, M. D., who was for many years one of the medical faculty of Harvard Medical School, said before his medical class in 1861: "The disgrace of medicine is that colossal system of self-deception in obedience to which mines have been emptied of their cankering minerals, the vegetable kingdom robbed of all its growth, the entrails of animals taxed for their impurities, the poison-bags of reptiles drained of their venom, and all the concelvable abominations thus obtained thrust down the throats of individuals suffering from some fault of organization, nourishment or vital stimulation."

Be Not Bigoted

It is well to be an enthusiast about your work, but it is well to draw the line between enthusiasm and bigotry, between faith in your own ideas and intolerance of the ideas of another.

Of all people on earth the doctors of medicine seem most unable to draw this line.

We all know how the Homeopathic School was persecuted and ridiculed by the old School of Allopathics.

Then came the Osteopathic School, and both the "Big Pill" and "Little Pill" men turned upon it to blot it from the world.

But Osteopathy came to stay, and to help the world to freedom from drugs and knives.

Then came LIGHT, and all the others derided it for a time, and are still cavilling, and questioning, and doubting its efficacy to relieve mortals from suffering, and delay death.

But the Light continues to shine with more and more brilliancy. Between these four distinctive schools, many lesser methods of cures have come, and each one has always claimed everything for itself and questioned or denied the right of all others to exist.

Are They Foolish?

THE water cure experiment will tell you the food faddists are all fools; the milk diet exponent will tell you there is nothing but massage to osteopathy; osteopathy will tell you there is only temporary virtue in diet or light, and so on through all the other branches of cures.

A physician who has grown out of the old methods and who has chosen the X and violet rays for his methods of cure, has proved an exception to the bigoted and intolerant rule. He believes there is much good in any simple diet, milk especially, for the depleted and anaemic patient; he believes there is great good to be gained from osteopathy; he believes one surgical operation in one hundred is necessary, not more; and he believes out of five hundred doses of medicine taken, one helps the human system to regain its lost poise.

There is tolerance and breadth and bigness of mind incarnate in a Doctor of Medicine.

Producers of Energy

IT would seem that light as a medical power reached also into the mind and spirit of the practitioner.

This man will succeed. He wastes no time or vitality fighting other rival physicians. All his forces are conserved for the perfecting of his own business.

Intolerance, bigotry, hypocriticism, all are energy wasters.

Toleration and good will are energy producers.

From a purely selfish standpoint, the cultivation of these qualities is worth while, just as "honesty is the best policy" in a business way.

The bigger a man's heart and views, the bigger will be the results in the long run for him in whatever he undertakes.

Progress means change in old methods.

The School of Medicine has been the slowest to see this truth of all the sciences, but it is coming to see it.

If you are a doctor, be a big doctor, big and broad and tolerant, and ready to welcome any method that can help humanity to the health which is its natural right. Open your windows to all the light.

Do not imagine it can come only through your little one window.
